Corner Stone of Finance Program Is Rejected by Committee.

NOT AN OVERTHROW, IS VIEW OF PREMIER

Chamber Must Act Before the Resignation of Cabinet Will Be Offered.

Paris, Jan. 14 (By A. P.).—M. Herriot's opening speech as president of the chamber of deputies this afternoon furnished occasion for the coalition of the left to give him another ovation. Immediately afterward the finance committee rejected M. Doumer's stamp tax on business tranactions.

The political situation can be judged by these acts. The left coalition is pressing its campaign against Finance Minister Doumer and Premier Briand, while putting Herriot forward at every opportunity and making no secret of its intention to force him back into the premiership.

It is admitted by M. Briand's friends now that his government can be saved from disaster only by the votes of the moderate conservative opposition. Briand says, nevertheless, he will insist on a debate in the chamber rather than allow the action of the finance committee, which has already rejected three important provisions of M. Doumer's bill, to force the resignation of the minister or the cabinet.

The premier may force the question to an issue tomorrow unless the finance committee withdraws some of its decisions, which now appears impossible. The moderates and conservatives to whom M. Briand must look for his majority to defeat the campaign of the coalition remain hesitant.

He Broke "Sacred Union."

Several of the leaders of the groups of the right declare that they would permit themselves to be duped if they aided the Briand cabinet now, as the premier was one of the first to break the "sacred union" of the parties that existed throughout the war, and that, even if saved by the conservative votes, he would again cast in his lot with the coalition of the left.

M. Briand's courage in fighting against his own coalition appeals to many, however, and his argument that something must be done before the end of the month or the bank printing press must be set going again to issue more paper money has taken a strong hold, and there is confidence in government circles that after a fair debate in the chamber, the cabinet will win by a small majority. M. Doumer went before the chamber finance committee this evening and announced the government's decision to maintain the chief lines of its financial proposals. He demanded that the committee choose between the government's and the left cartel's bills, and added that in no case would he withdraw his plan.

Vote Likely on Sunday.

The committee, after examining the cartel counterproject, decided to present its report to the chamber Saturday, after which the debate on the floor of the house will be begun, with a vote likely on Sunday.

Louis Malvy, president of the committee, addressing the radical group today, said the committee majority was uncompromisingly opposed to the stamp tax, forming the corner stone of the finance minister's fiscal program. The committee, he added, welcomed assuming its responsibilities before the open chamber.

The accounting committee of the chamber has decided unanimously to propose that parliament increase the salary of deputies from 27,000 to 42,000 francs (from $1,080 to $1,680).

That measure, which will come up for discussion shortly, is hardly expected to pass in face of the popular opposition to increased governmental expenditures.

Gov. Smith Refuses To Enter Race Again

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 14 (By A. P.). Gov. Smith will not be a candidate for reelection as chief executive of the State if he can help it. This he made clear today, declaring he intended to retire from politics at the end of his present term and go into business.

Office Girls Don Smocks; Men's Efficiency Gains

Special to The Washington Post.

Boston, Mass., Jan. 14.—"Away with feminine charm! It interferes with the masculine efficiency of our offices," said officials of the Edison Company here.

So they clothed the 730 charmers that grace desks in the Edison offices in long artist's smocks. So chastely cut are the sleeves that nary a dimpled elbow may allure. The severe neck line precludes even a glimpse of the wearer's throat.

Masculine efficiency as a result has increased fifty per cent, office managers today reported proudly. There's a suprising dearth of blots on the ledgers and an unprecedented absence of erasures, so it appears the uniform garb will stay.

$16,000,000 SUIT FILED FOR TEAPOT OIL RIGHTS

STOCK ALSO IS CLAIMED

New York, Jan. 14 (By A. P.).—Suit was filed in Federal court today by H. Leslie Parker to be declared owner of one-seventh interest in Harry F. Sinclair's Teapot Dome Oil holdings in Wyoming.

The plaintiff also seeks a similar interest in Mammoth Oil stock, given in exchange for all or part of the Teapot Dome holding.

Parker claims to have received his interest in the holding by conveyance from Marion N. Wheeler January 29, 1924.

While he is unable to estimate the amount of damages to which he feels entitled, Mr. Parker thought they would total at least $16,000,000.

Parker and his partner, Marion N. Wheeler, of Casper, Wyo., and Denver, Colo., claim they acquired the interests of some of the pioneers in what is known as the Salt Creek Oil field, in which Teapot Dome is located. In the complaint it is alleged that Sinclair agreed with Albert B. Fall, former Secretary of the Interior, "to quiet" all outstanding titles to land or rights inside of Teapot Dome.

Parker says he discovered the Big Muddy Oil field at Parkerton, Wyo., and with Wheeler was instrumental in interesting New York bankers in the developments of oil fields in the Salt Creek district. Here were drilled the wells which Sinclair and Fall claimed were draining Teapot Dome.

Ship Believed Sunk With All on Board

New York, Jan. 14 (By A. P.).—The Greek freighter Nirefs Nirefs apparently has been lost at sea off the British coast with all on board, the Royal Mail liner Orca, reported upon her arrival today.

The Orca picked up calls for help in the evening of January 3, the position of the Nirefs indicating that she was sixty miles distant. Subsequently a radio message om the British freighter Hector stated that it then was in the position given by the Nirefs, but that there was no sign of the Greek boat or any trace of wreckage.

KIN SAYS WASHINGTON WAS "UP" IN FOLLIES

San Francisco, Jan. 14 (By A. P.).—George Washington was "well up" on the follies of his time and although it is questionable whether he ever indulged in many of them, he "cussed and drank like a gentleman and made some of the best whisky in Virginia," John Thornton Washington, great-great-grandnephew of the general, said here today, in supporting Rupert Hughes' address to the Sons of the Revolution in Washington Tuesday night. John Washington, the great-great-grandson of Samuel Washington, oldest brother of the general, is a retired San Francisco newspaper man, now approaching 80 years.

"Why, certainly, George Washington drank," John Washington said. "Every gentleman of his day drank and smoked, danced and played cards. Why, I can remember back in 1861 when I was at my grandfather's home in Virginia we drank madeira that came from the cellars of Mount Vernon.

"Why try to place a halo around George Washington? He was a man, a soldier and a capitalist. He typified the true Southern gentleman."

SHORTHAND NOTES OF FIRST WAN TRIAL FOUND DESTROYED

Prosecution Embarrassed as Many Witnesses Have Since Died.

WILL OFFER COPIES AT SECOND ATTEMPT

The shorthand notes taken by court reporters at the first trial of Ziang Sun Wan in 1920 have all been destroyed, it was learned when the second trial of Wan got under way in criminal court yesterday.

Counsel for the defense announced after adjournment that it would make a determined attempt to have excluded from this trial all of the testimony given at the first trial by witnesses who have since died or are missing. Such testimoney, they say, is not admissible without the original shorthand notes to back it up.

Wan, who is charged with killing one of the three Chinese found murdered here in 1919, was convicted and sentenced to hang in May, 1920. He is being given a new trial on the order of the United States Supreme Court.

The defense counsel contends that typewritten copies of the destroyed shorthand notes are not enough to prove the testimony of deceased and missing witnesses, unless it can be competently proved that the copies are accurate. And the defense does not think this can be done.

Wants Testimony Admitted.

The prosecution is determined to have the testimony of missing witnesses admitted to the trial. They say they can point to numerous cases where such testimony has been admitted, even when the original shorthand notes were not available.

Among the witnesses at the first trial who have died are Inspector Clifford L. Grant, chief of detectives; Maj. Raymond Pullman, superintendent of police; George Spohn, a clerk at the Harris hotel, where Wan lived about the time of the murder; Morgan Prigg, chief clerk at the same hotel, and several others. The government has witnesses to corroborate the testimony of all the deceased with the exception of Spohn and Prigg.

The celebrated triple murder was rehearsed in criminal court yesterday. The first three days and part of yesterday were devoted to selecting a jury.

United States Attorney Peyton Gordon, who heads the prosecution, took a position in front of the jury box and, in a dispassionate voice, narrated the government's story of the crime. He told how three members of the Chinese educational mission, Dr. T. T. Wong, C. H. Hsie and Ben Sen Wu, were found murdered in a house on Kalorama road, January 31, 1919.

He reminded the jury that Wan was charged only with the murder of Ben Sen Wu, and he then proceeded to weave again the net of circumstances by which the government intends to prove that charge.

Six Witnesses Heard.

Six witnesses were heard following Maj. Gordon's recital, after which Justice Wendell P. Stafford anounced that the case would go over to Monday morning. Under the court schedule, Friday is devoted to lunacy cases. Tomorrow the court is in session only a half day.

When court was adjourned, the witness box was occupied by Mrs. Gertrude Bartels, proprietor of a New York rooming house in which Wan and his brother, Van, lived before and after the murders.

Mrs. Bartels told of a conversation she had with Wan in January, 1919.

"Wan had started to drink," she said. "I told him I didn't like it and that he would have to get out."

Wan left her rooming house January 22, Mrs. Bartels said, and returned January 31. She said she saw him in bed at 11 o'clock of that morning.

Stories Dovetail.

Mrs. Bartels' testimony dovetailed with the statement of United States Attorney Gordon, who had accused Wan of murdering Ben Sen Wu between the time he left New York and the day he returned. Wan, he said, had been the guest of Wu at the mission in Kalorama road

Schwab Has Talk Written Then Delivers His Own

Chicago, Jan. 14 (By A. P.). A "fellow down at New York" writes Charles M. Schwab's speeches. He wrote one for delivery here last night, but the veteran steelmaker spoke his own.

The prepared text dealt in masterly fashion with world topics, and the "64-years-young Pittsburgh mill man" publicly acknowledged it. But what he actually said was another thing.

"You know there's a fellow down at New York who writes my speeches for me," Mr. Schwab told those at the annual banquet of the American Roadbuilders' association. "He's written one for me to deliver to you tonight. It has been given to all the newspapers, and you can read it tomorrow morning. Now I guess we need not be bothered with that any more."

He swept into a joke, kept his hearers laughing and applauding a half hour, and finished with a burst of humor.

$30,000 DOWNTOWN FIRE DRAWS CROWD OF 2,000

BLAZE SEEN FOR BLOCKS

A crowd of approximately 2,000 persons thronged Pennsylvania avenue, Twelfth and E streets northwest last night to watch firemen from nine units battle a stubborn blaze which wrecked the interior of the building at 1203 Pennsylvania avenue and wrought damage estimated at $30,000.

The first and third floors of the building were occupied by the Army & Navy Supply Co., of which Bernard Sloan is proprietor. The dental parlors of Dr. W. E. Evans are on the second floor.

The blaze of undetermined origin, started in the rear of the first floor, salesroom of the supply conren. The flames ate their way upward in the rear of the building to the third floor, the storeroom of the supply company.

Carl Mershstedt and Joseph Angele, of the Golotti restaurant, next door, called the fire department, when Davis, the assistant chef, discovered the blaze at 9:45 o'clock. An engine and a truck company were sent in response to the call, and they turned in an alarm upon their arrival.

Firemen hardly had reached the scene, when a blaze shot through the roof, illuminating the sky for blocks around. Dense columns of smoke poured from the building. Police reserves from the Third precinct and a detail from the First precinct labored to keep the crowds within the police lines and rerouted traffic. It was feared that ammunition supplies in the building might explode.

For two hours the fire-fighters toiled before the blaze was put under control. Deputy Chief P. W. Nicholson, of No. 14 engine company, was in charge of the apparatus. Prominent in the crowd was Nick Altrock, famous clown of the Washington baseball club, whose only comment, was "Red hot."

Bertha Lendeanbaum, 6 years old, was severely burned on the hands last night, when an oil stove in her home at 1300 I street northeast, was turned over damaging the home to the extent of $500.

VINCENT ASTOR BUYS J. C. COSDEN ESTATE

Home Where Prince of Wales Was Guest Brings "More Than $1.000,000."

New York, Jan. 14 (By A. P.).—The estate of Joshua C. Cosden, oil magnate, at Port Washington, Long Island, where the Prince of Wales was entertained during his last visit to America and where the $150,000 robbery of jewels belonging to Mrs. Cosden and Lady Mountbatten was staged in September, 1924, has been sold to Vincent Astor. In announcing the purchase today Mr. Astor said the price was "more than $1,000,000."

The estate, which comprises 310 acres of fields and wooded land, a palatial main residence, several smaller houses and nine-hole golf course, adjoins the Astor estate. It is said Mr. Astor bought the property to subdivide it for sale. In 1922 Mr. Astor acquired the William Butler Duncan estate adjoining the Cosden property.

Mr. and Mrs. Cosden are at Palm Beach, and will probably occupy their home at Newport during the summer.

ALL BELIEVED DEAD; GAS IS ENCOUNTERED

Twelve Emerge Immediately After Explosion; Were at Work Near Entrance.

Fairmont, West Va., Jan. 15 (Friday,) (By A. P.).—The fate of 38 miners in the Jamieson Coal & Coke Co. No. 8 mine at Farmington, near here, in which an explosion occurred shortly before midnight, will probably not be known for several hours, men in charge of the rescue work and officials of the company said early this morning.

The rescue workers are making but slow progress, it was said, because of the density of the smoke, and piles of debris that are blocking the passageways about 2,800 feet from the foot of the hoist shaft, where it is believed the explosion took place.

Fear All Are Dead.

Whether or not the men are dead, none of those in charge of the rescue work would say, but the fear was expressed by some of the company officials that all had perished.

The blast was not of great violence. Its force was felt only in the vicinity of the mine and was followed by a puff of smoke from the hoist shaft.

Twelve or more men were brought out of the mine immediately following the explosion, they having been at work near the bottom of the hoist shaft.

Man Breaks a Leg Dancing Charleston

Special to The Washington Post.

Hammond, Ind., Jan. 14.—As a Charleston dancer, Robert Richardson was almost a total loss. He took lessons and got so he could kick and slip with some degree of success.

At Joe Kaspar's wedding anniversary Richardson let himself out in trying to impress the guests with his ability as a Charlestoner. But his feet would not coordinate and he fell so hard that when he was lifted from the floor it was found he had a compound fracture of one leg.

U.S. 1925 FOREIGN TRADE IS GREATEST IN HISTORY

IMPORTS ARE ABSORBED

(By the Associated Press.)

The foreign trade of the United States for 1925 was the greatest of any year in history, in volume though not in value, Secretary Hoover announced yesterday, holding that the totals were evidence of a degree of prosperity higher than before experienced.

The year's exports were valued at $4,908,743,259 and the imports at $4,224,225,962, leaving a favorable commodity trade balance of $684,517,297. For 1924, exports were valued at $4,590,983,845 and imports at $3,609,962,579, leaving a favorable trade balance of $981,021,266. Figures in the volume were not available, the record being calculated on the basis of annual price fluctuations.

Mr. Hoover explained that in 1919 and 1920, foreign trade figures had reached higher totals than in 1925, but that the war-inflated level of prices then prevailing had caused these totals, the volume of the trade being much lower than that of last year.

"It was the greatest trade record for five years as to monetary value," he said, "and the greatest as to the quality ever experienced in our history. It illustrates the ability of the United States to absorb without difficulty to its industrial establishment an immense volume of imports from abroad, and it likewise illustrates the abilities of our own industries to meet competition abroad and dispose of their own products.

"It is rather notable that the figures demonstrate the complete recovery of the trade of the United States from the war depression, and the advancement of its trade to levels far above those of prewar years. None of the other great combatant trading countries have been able to do so well. They have a trade volume that in monetary value may equal prewar, but because of the higher price level now prevailing, their trade volume is smaller in quantity than during prewar.

MAN IS HELD AT BAY AFTER SHOOTING TWO

Cherryville, N. C., Jan. 14 (By A. P.).—Something akin to a "Wild West" scene was staged here tonight when Jesse Vandyke, 25, butcher, ran amuck on South Mountain street, shooting into the air, into stores, and firing at persons promiscuously for half an hour. Lights were turned off and the town became almost dark.

Chief of Police A. L. Painter was shot in the head and taken to a hospital in Loncolnton. Horace S. Farnsworth, a pedestrian, was shot in the abdomen.

Sheriff G. T. Rhyne, of Gaston county, hurried here with a dozen armed men late tonight and is holding Vandyke at bay in the home of his mother-in-law, Mrs. Lester Dellinger, where he took refuge. Vandyke has permitted the sheriff and members of the posse to enter the house, but is holding them at a safe distance. The sheriff declares he will not kill or wound Vandyke if he can be taken otherwise. Attempts to "dope" him have failed because he declined to take drinks offered.

BORAH CITES G.O.P. POLICIES 40 YEARS OLD AGAINST COURT

Foreign Entanglements Always Opposed by Party, He Says.

QUOTES ROOT ORDER TO HAGUE DELEGATES

By JOHN EDWIN NEVIN.

An appeal to adhere to the principles which have dominated the Republican party for 40 years was made in the Senate yesterday by Senator William E. Borah, Republican, Idaho, in arguing against the resolution to make the United States a member of the world court. His speech was the high light of a day in which the opponents of the Swanson resolution had its advocates at all times on the defensive.

Yesterday probably was the last time when debate on the court will have unlimited sway. The combined Postoffice and Treasury appropriation bill has been formally reported to the Senate. It must be considered immediately and can be expected to prove a fruitful medium of debate. The Treasury section, for instance, carries appropriations to operate the machinery for prohibition enforcement, which is a subject on which there is difference of opinion.

It also was made perfectly plain yesterday that the tax reduction bill will be held to the front from the time it is presented early next week until it finally is disposed of. This means a delay in reaching a vote on the world court resolution which its opponents say indicates its eventual defeat.

Associates Are Challenged.

Senator Borah challenged his Republican associates to reconcile the adherence resolution with the outstanding principles of the party. He denied the assertion of Senator McKinley of Illinois, that the opposition represented "demagogues, who with half truths and half falsehoods, build up a great scare" and insisted that it is impossible to deny that the present proposal is designed to lead the country directly into foreign entanglements.

"I think," the Idaho senator said, "we are able to see that if we are not in error now we have been tremendously in error for the past 40 years. It is not the view of individuals with which I am concerned but the fact that for 40 years the Republican foreign policy has had the earnest approval of the American people. Party responsibility cannot easily be put aside and at all times the Republican organization has been pledged to oppose all foreign entanglements."

Senator Borah quoted Secretary Root's instruction in 1907 to the American delegates to The Hague tribunal, emphasizing to them that the United States was at all times opposed to entangling alliances and that this was one fact which must be kept in mind by them.

Quotes Root's Addresses.

Mr. Borah quoted also at great length from addresses and public statements by Mr. Root to emphasize his contention that the Republican policies have at all times been in opposition to any interference in European affairs. The Idaho senator further argued that a second Republican fundamental policy has been that of codification of international law and said that "now we are told that to further continue to urge this will be to oppose peace." The speaker read into the record the Root view along this line and declared:

"Just so sure as we fail to establish a code of international law your court will have no more to do, outside of advisory opinions, than the court at The Hague has. You simply will have a group of men seeking to impose their personal opinions upon those who come before them.

"Suppose some powerful nation like Great Britain or the United States should seize territory from a weaker nation. There is no court to which this weaker nation could appeal or be heard without the consent of the wrongdoer under the plan proposed here."

Senator Borah recalled that Senator Pepper (Republican) Pennsylvania, a few days ago abandoned his reservation program and stated that when he did this he threw

TWO HOLDUPS, SIX ROBBERIES START POLICE MAN-HUNT

Pair, Cowing Three Men and Two Women, Take $687 From Collector.

GROCERY WORKER MADE VICTIMM SECOND TIME

Five Passengers Beat Taxi Driver, Taking $15 From Him.

Two holdups and six robberies yesterday started police on another man hunt.

Threatening to kill the first one who moved, two highwaymen, lined up three men and two women in the Sanitary grocery store at 1630 U street northwest yesterday morning at the point of pistols and robbed Raymond Whitmer, collector for the company, of $687.19.

This is the second time within two months that Whitmer has been held up and robbed. From the descriptions furnished the police and the methods employed by the highwaymen, police believe the highwaymen yesterday are the same pair that robbed Whitmer before. The robbers got $1,800 the first time.

Followed Into Store.

Shortly after 9 o'clock yesterday morning, Whitmer entered the store to get the previous day's receipts. He was followed closely by one of the bandits, unnoticed. Monroe Miller, a clerk, was cleaning the windows and turned and spoke to Whitmer as he entered.

The bandit followed and moved over to the counter, where I. E. Laws, manager of the store, and his son, Kenneth, were arranging the shelves. Whitmer, Laws and his son moved to a rear room in the store, where the safe was kept, while Miller started to wait on the highwaymen.

The robber whipped out a revolver and, sticking it in Miller's face, ordered him to get in the rear room with the others. At this point the second hold-up man entered. The two highwaymen then leveled their revolvers at the four men and lined them up against the wall with their hands above their heads.

Smiles in Warning Women.

One of the bandits then rifled Whitmer's pockets. Two women customers entered the store at this time and one of the bandits went out to the counter and smilingly told them to keep quiet if they did not want to "get filled with lead." By this time the other robber had taken all the money Whitmer had and, ordering the men to remain in the room for five minutes, he ran over to the cash register and took some bills from it.

The pair then backed away to the door and disappeared down a side street.

Whitmer ran next door and telephoned the police. Detectives Cullinane and Trammell arrived from headquarters in a few minutes, but search of the neighborhood failed to disclose any trace of the highwaymen.

Police Draw Dragnet.

Chief of Detectives Henry G. Pratt placed a cordon of police at all roads leading from the city and stationed men at the Union station to watch for the robbers. Mr. Pratt believes with their capture a score of recent hold-ups will be cleared.

Daniel J. Nelson, of 239 N street northwest, driver of a taxicab, was beaten and robbed of $15 by five colored men who hired his car early yesterday morning at Seventh and T streets northwest.

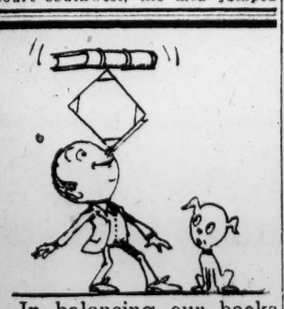
Asked to be taken to Armory court southwest, the men jumped out of the car at their destination and attacked Nelson. They searched his pockets and took the money from him, disappearing in an alley.

Mrs. Anna Shannohoffsky, apartment 4, of 3432 Connecticut avenue northwest, was awakened early yesterday morning by a white man prowling around her bed. When she screamed the robber ran from the apartment. Nothing was reported as missing.

Michael Coccia, of 1835 L street northwest, yesterday reported to police that he had been robbed of $250. According to Coccia, the money was in his trousers pockets when he went to bed, but when he awoke at 4 o'clock yesterday morning the money was gone.

George Heider, proprietor of a grocery store at 3507 Twelfth street northwest, yesterday reported that the store had been entered early yesterday morning by some one forcing a rear door. The cash register was rifled of $25 and several cartons of cigarettes were stolen.

Herman A. Goldberg, of 507 G street northwest, yesterday reported to police that his store at the above address had been entered by some one breaking a rear basement window. Two strings of pearls and a watch were taken. The total value lost was $32.50.



In balancing our books for the year we found that the seasonal readjustment of our men's clothing stock necessitated moving out some thousands of business suits.

So we revised their prices to show savings of $10 to $15!

Thought we might just as well explain it to you—it's no bargain house cleaning, though the number of suits involved and their present prices compare favorably with annual "clearance sales" elsewhere.

Rockville's "Marrying Parson" Resigns Post

The Rev. Rowland Wagner, the "marrying parson" of Rockville, resigned his pastorate of the Rockville Baptist church, which he has held for the past seven years, it was announced yesterday.

He has solemnized approximately 1,500 marriage ceremonies in Rockville and has made the town famous as the Gretna Green of Washington. About 80 per cent of those couples were either from Washington or Virginia, he said.

His resignation came as a distinct surprise to the congregation. No reason was given for his action other than that he felt he should transfer his work to other fields.

EXPERT TO BE SOUGHT FOR GARDENS CHANGE

Government Bodies May Search "Outside" for Engineer to Conduct Work.

Removal of the Botanic Gardens from the foot of the Capitol, to a permanent site, not yet determined upon, will require the services of an "outside" expert who will make a comprehensive study of the entire problem and who probably will assist in the design of greater gardens.

This became known yesterday when it was learned that Representative Robert Luce, chairman of the joint committee on the library; Charles Moore, chairman of the fine arts commission, and Maj. U. D. Grant 3d, director of public buildings and parks, have conferred on this proposal and have agreed to its wisdom.

Transfer of the Botanic Gardens to a permanent site so that their development may be carried forward, while their present site can be developed to set off the Grant and Meade memorials, is a prime consideration of the planning bodies of the city and Federal government. As yet, however, they have come to no decision as to where the gardens shall be located.

FORD DANCE MUSIC TO BE HEARD AGAIN

Old-Fashioned Orchestra Airs Will Be Repeated Tonight by WCAP.

Henry Ford's Old-Fashioned Dance orchestra, which is entertaining visitors at the Ford exhibition at Broadway and 54th street, New York city, will play again before WEAF's microphone tonight from 10 to 11 o'clock, the program being broadcast simultaneously by WCAP and other stations.

Mr. Ford's master of dancing will preside at the microphone, as he did on Tuesday evening, when this organization made its debut on WEAF's wave. Before each selection is played he will give a brief description of the dance the music illustrates. The program includes: Two-step, "Golden Slipper" medley; old time waltz, medley, and Virginia reel—"Irish Washerwoman," "White Cockade," "Marching Through Georgia."

Square Dance Frolic By Natives Tonight

The Society of Natives will entertain tonight at an old time square dance frolic at the Washington club, Seventeenth and K streets. It will be a unique departure from the usual entertainment program of the organization and the older folk and the younger ones will vie in stepping the old dances as well as the newer figures.

There will be jazz and smoother tuneful airs in the melange of music which will be played by the Hill Billies orchestra, comprising the Hopkins brothers and others, fresh from the mountains of Tennessee. Dr. Samuel S. Adams will preside.

Treasury Gets $200 As Conscience Fund

A contribution of $200, "because of a more or less selfishness during the world war in placing my interests ahead of my country's," was received at the Treasury Department yesterday from an unknown man.

The money was placed in the Treasury "conscience fund." There was no signature to the accompanying letter, which had been mailed by some one near the Wall street postoffice in New York. It was addressed to Secretary Mellon.

HOUSE COMMITTEE REPORT TO FAVOR STREET PROJECTS

COMMISSIONERS ASK CONDEMNATION RIGHT

A House subcommittee on appropriations, which yesterday made a survey of local streets, provided for a pending deficiency appropriation, will report favorably today on the great majority of the projects.

The subcommittee, composed of Representatives Funk and Simmons, made the survey at the direction of Chairman Madden of the House appropriations committee, who made known that the committee would be guided largely by the recommendations of the subcommittee. They were accompanied by District Highway Engineer Hunt and Highway Commissioner West on a trip that extended throughout the afternoon.

The deficiency item calls for approximately $700,000 and is sought in order that work can be started on the streets early this spring.

Representatives Funk and Simmons are both understood to have been favorably impressed with the proposed widening of Connecticut avenue and Eleventh street. It is proposed to widen the former to 80 feet between K and M streets and to 65 feet from M to Eighteenth streets, for which, in addition to resurfacing, $66,000 is sought. Eleventh street it is proposed to widen to 70 feet from Pennsylvania avenue to New York avenue, for which, with contemplated resurfacing, $93,000 is sought. The subcommittee is likely to question the need of some of the lesser projects.

Commissioners Ask Power.

A bill upon enactment of which "the successful execution of the highway plan in the outlying sections of the District of Columbia is dependent," in the view of the commissioners, was submitted by them to Congress yesterday, with an urgent request that it be passed.

It would vest authority in the commissioners to proceed to condemn property for opening of streets in cases in which benefits equal to damages can not be found for assessment of the costs against abutting property, making it possible, in such cases, for the amount of damages in excess of benefits to be paid out of public funds of the district. The commissioners said, in their plea for the legislation:

"There are a number of proposed streets provided by the highway plan, vital to the proper, orderly and comprehensive development of the District, that can not be opened by dedication or condemnation under existing law. These streets form an integral part of the general street plan, and must be acquired in advance of any physical improvements, such as grading, paving, installation of water mains, sewers and lights.

Need Condemnation Law.

"Substantial reasons exist why these streets can not now be acquired. In many cases small holdings would be entirely obliterated and improvements destroyed, thus creating a cost which can not, in equity, be assessed against the property benefited. Therefore, it would seem equitable for the District to pay part of the cost of opening these streets, where the greater benefit would accrue to the community at large.

"Each year of delay wil add tremendously to the cost. The commissioners have been informed by the Director of the Bureau of Budget that the proposed legislation is not in conflict with the financial program of the President."

MINE UNION CHIEFS SUPPORTED BY MEN IN STRIKE ATTITUDE

Scale Committee Resolution Reaffirms Approval of Peace Policies.

LEGISLATION IS DELAYED IN PENNSYLVANIA HOUSE

Act to Repeal Certificate Law of Miners Is Reported for Passage.

Hazleton, Pa., Jan. 14 (By A. P.).—The scale committee of the anthracite miners representing every local union in the hard coal fields today adopted a resolution reaffirming "to the world our sanction, approval and support of the plans and policies" of the union leaders.

Thus was summed up a long resolution approving of every action so far taken by President John L. Lewis of the United Mine Workers and other leaders in conducting the hard-coal strike now in its fifth month.

The scale committee, called to hear the report of its subcommittee which carried on the negotiations in New York with the operators, also adopted a resolution thanking the American Federation of Labor for its appeal for funds in behalf of the striking mine workers, and condemned the movement in the Pennsylvania legislature for the repeal of the miners' certificate law.

Explosion Laid to Green Men.

In connection with the attempted repeal of this law, President Lewis read to the scale committee a telegram from international representatives of the union at McAlester, Okla., stating that the explosion at Wilburton, where nearly 100 miners were killed, was said to have been "caused by green, inexperienced men." The telegram was signed by Joe Angelo and Lawrence Dwyer.

The miners' certificate law provides that no man can work in an anthracite mine without having had two years' experience as a miners' laborer and pass an examination.

The agreement made between the miners and the operators regarding the employment of maintenance men during the suspension was reaffirmed by the committee and announcement made that the maintenance men would not be withdrawn from the mines so long as the coal companies live up to that compact.

Discussion of Relief.

There was considerable discussion among the committeemen on relief and other matters. It was stated that the officers of the union had assurances from the operators there was no intention to start production without an agreement.

The committee adopted a resolution indorsing the recommendation of Gov. Pinchot, to the legislature, to declare the anthracite industry a public utility.

The striking anthracite miners will continue their fight for a fair living standard and an earning capacity in keeping with such a standard, John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, declared today in addressing a crowd of idle miners.

Mr. Lewis stopped to talk to the men on his way to the meeting of the anthracite scale committee. The miners jammed the corridors and mezzanine floor of the Altamont hotel, where the meeting was held, and greeted their leaders with handclapping.

The union chief said he stood ready to make an "honorable settlement," but that the miners would never give up their right to use their "economic strength" to draw up a new wage contract.

Asserting that the operators desired arbitration as an "instrumentality to bring about a wage decrease," Mr. Lewis declared that the miners' leaders opposed this proposition, believing that they interpret the feeling of the men, and would continue to stand for the rights of the workers so long as the rank and file hire them to represent their interests.

Harrisburg, Pa., Jan. 14 (By A. P.).—Anthracite mining legislation, introduced in the Pennsylvania general assembly yesterday, made little progress in a brief session held today. Further action was delayed by adjournment of the legislature until next Monday night.

Administration measures proposing to make coal a public utility, subject to public service commission control and providing for compacts between States to regulate production and distribution, were sent to the house committee on mines and mining.

A bill proposing repeal of the miners' certificate law, introduced in the senate and sent to the committee on mines and mining, was reported for passage by that committee today.

Miners to Strike If Paid With Checks

St. Clairsville, Ohio, Jan. 14 (By A. P.).—More than 250 miners of the Paisley Coal Co. at Oca today notified company officials that they would go on strike unless paid in cash instead of by checks. The company adopted the check paying system because of the risk of holdups. Officials said the system would be continued or the mine would be shut down.

The miners say they lose a day's work because of the checks, being forced to go to nearby cities to have them cashed.

Reply to U. S. Note By Mexico Delayed

Mexico City, Jan. 14 (By A. P.). It is learned authoritatively that the Mexican government has not yet handed a note to the American Ambassador, James R. Sheffield, in reply to the contentions of the United States government on Mexican land and petroleum legislation.

The Ambassador had a long conference today with the Mexican foreign minister, Aaron Saenz, but neither the Ambassador nor the minister would reveal the details of the conversations.

Those who are conversant with the situation, however, believe that indications continue favorable for an amicable adjustment.

SURVIVOR OF BLAST CRAWLS FOR HOURS OVER DEAD MINERS

RELATIVES TO RECEIVE $9,000 FOR THE DEATHS

Wilburton, Okla., Jan. 14 (By A. P.).—Rescue work at the wrecked mine of the Degnan-McConnell Co., near here, tonight had resolved into the dreary task of removing the bodies of the 91 victims.

A spark of hope flared up but quickly died today when two miners were rescued alive. After crawling on hands and knees, sometimes over the bodies of dead victims, for 23 hours, Cecil McKinney, young white miner, staggered from the shaft. His clothing was water-soaked and he was exhausted.

"I crawled and crawled after the explosion, in utter darkness. There are fifteen dead bodies in entry 16, east of where I was working at the time of the explosion. I do not know where I crawled or how long I crawled, but I just squeezed through and finally found a slope and came to the bend where you found me."

Shortly after noon a negro miner was found alive on the fourteenth level. He was too exhausted to tell his story.

Bodies of 34 Taken Out.

The bodies of 34 men, most of them negroes, early tonight had been taken from the mine, which was damaged by a gas explosion yesterday.

Six of the bodies were recovered yesterday but little headway was made because of fire in the mine and the debris which had to be cleared away.

Early today a passageway was cleared throughout the mine and bodies of the victims were brought to the surface at intervals until 4 o'clock.

At that time work slowed down and bodies were being brought to the top more slowly. Those close to the cage shaft were first placed in a huge bucket and hoisted out. Then the rescuers ranged farther back into the mine and dragged some of the bodies nearly half a mile to the shaft.

More than 45 men were searching for bodies throughout the afternoon in shifts relieved at six-hour intervals.

Undertakers Are Rushed.

Downtown a staff of undertakers recruited from McAlester, Poteau, Hartshorn and Fort Smith, Ark., struggled to keep abreast of the tide of bodies that flowed into the morgue. As fast as the bodies were prepared for burial they were taken across the street to a large vacant room, where they were held until instructions were given by relatives.

A large crowd milled about the entrance to the undertaking establishment and a national guardsman stood before the door, refusing entrance to all except those who were carrying the bodies in and out.

Four motor trucks, working in relays, brought the bodies in from the mine.

Sixty-five negro men, approximately 85 per cent of the negro population of Wilburton, are believed to have died in the blast.

Bodies Severely Burned.

As body after body was brought to the surface, fellow workmen took the coverings from the faces and attempted to identify them. It was readily done in most cases, a chorus of voices calling the names of the victims. In some cases, however, close study was required to establish identity and persons from the crowd about the roped-in area encircling the mine entrance were asked to come forward and attempt to name the victims. The crowd today, while large, was more quiet than yesterday, the lamentations of relatives being almost entirely lacking.

Many of the bodies recovered today were severely burned, but physicians said it appeared that most of the men had been sufffocated by the deadly gas, white damp.

Old-time miners, who have gone through several similar catastrophies, said that unusual speed was made today in recovering the bodies.

ReRscue workers said nineteen bodies were found in one heap in entry sixteen, west, with another pile of bodies of eleven men in entry sixteen, east. Many of the men had their arms entwined about each other, one of the workers said.

Man Escapes; 4 Sons Die.

One miner, who escaped the first day, had four sons who now have been definitely determined as dead in the disaster.

No funeral services were held today, undertakers spending all their time in embalming bodies. Funeral services were considered for this afternoon, but were abandoned. Some probably will be held tomorrow.

An attempt was made to obtain a number of convicts from the State penitentiary at McAlester to dig the 90 or more graves.

Wilburton had tonight recovered somewhat from the shock of the disaster. The air of sorrow and grimness which prevailed was lessening today and citizens seemed to accept the blow dealt by fate and to look only for the removal of bodies known to be in the mine.

John Morris, 23, a white man, was a leader of the underground rescue parties today. William Jones, superintendent of the Rock Island coal mines and J. B. Hynal, in charge of the government rescue crew from McAlester, were given much of the credit for the manner in which the mine was penetrated and bodies removed.

Although only 10 of 101 miners entombed were able to escape. Rescue workers said that three mules out of a dozen or fifteen in the mine were alive and wandering about the workings. Food and water were sent down to the animals.

A record of the bodies recovered was kept in crude chalk marks on the timbers of the tipple, a mark for each body checked off in groups of five.

Jim McConnell, owner of the mine, returned today from Illinois, where he had gone to attend the funeral of a friend. He at once issued a statement denying the declaration last night of Ed Boyle, State mine commissioner, that the catastrophe was the result of having inexperienced men in the mine which is being operated on a non-union basis.

Men Knew Their Business.

"Every gas man in the mine held a certificate," Mr. McConnell declared. "And the majority of the men who were at work had been there some time. It is not true to say that the mine was being worked with men who did not know their business."

It became known today that the company carried its own insurance on the miners who were killed. The State industrial commission has adopted the policy of allowing a flat compensation of $9,000 for loss of life in industrial accidents, and at this rate the deaths of 91 men would cost the company $819,000.

Girls' and Men's Lack Of "Pep" Laid to Radio

Baltimore, Md., Jan. 14 (By A. P.).—Today was bargain day for radio sets at Goucher college. No more will loud speakers or ear phones aid in whiling away the hours twixt supper-time and breakfast. President William Wesley Guth has banned them.

Radio is responsible for late hours and consequent loss of efficiency and "pep," Dr. Guth told the students. In the business world, he said, it is easy to pick out the men who own radios. In the morning their faces tell. Therefore the radio ban, "for the physical as well as the mental welfare" of Goucher girls.

CHILE'S TACNA ATTITUDE HELD GREATLY CHANGED

Agustin Edwards' Statement Said to Be a Reversal of Policy.

AGREEMENT IS NEARER

(Special Cable Dispatch.)

Arica, Jan. 14.—The reversal of Chile's policy in the Tacna-Arica plebiscite received a new impetus this afternoon when Agustin Edwards issued a statement intimating that the Chilean government strongly disapproved of the recent violence in Tacna and further intimating that the responsible parties would be punished through the decisions of Chilean courts. This statement covered grounds similar to that in Senor Edwards' commission speech Tuesday and has been received with general approval, especially among the Americans and Peruvians.

It is evident that the new Chilean government has completely changed former President Alessandri's Tacna-Arica policy, and the prospects are now exceptionally bright for a smoother-working award. It is equally evident that Gen. Pershing's diplomacy has been working actively and that he has talked matters over with Senor Edwards, probably intimating that the former alibis regarding the Tacna attacks would not be accepted. In any case the situation is better today than it has been for many months. Chile's admission of criminal responsibility of the Tacna-Aricans' recent trouble has bowled over the Peruvian attack and practically left the field clear for progressive action by the plebiscitary commission.

There still remains a band of Chilean rowdies who have been preying on defenseless Peruvian natives, and these will unquestionably be removed.

Woman Driver Safe If She Is Riding Alone

Chicago, Jan. 14 (By A. P.).—A woman is the equal of a man at the wheel of an automobile when she's alone, but when she has another woman in the car with her very often she is potentially unsafe, George T. Kenney, of the Yellow Cab Co., told the safety class for traffic rule violators today. Attendance at these weekly classes is compulsory for first offenders, who thereby escape prosecution.

"'Look out! There's a woman driving that car,' used to be a frequent word of warning to motorists," said Mr. Kenney, "but from our observation I do not believe this general warning is necessary in accord with the facts."

ARRIVAL OF FRENCH DIPLOMAT REVIVES HOPE OF DEBT PACT

COMMISSION REFUSES GREEKS' LOAN REQUEST

With the arrival in Washington yesterday of Henri Berenger, the new French Ambassador to the United States, the refusal of the Greek debt commission's request for a further loan of $33,000,000 before they agree to fund present obligations and the arrival also of the Jugoslav debt commission to negotiate funding terms, affairs of the American world war debt funding commission were considerably enlivened.

Ambassador Berenger reached Washington late yesterday and was driven immediately from the station to the French embassy, on Sixteenth street, where he will replace Ambassador Daeschner, who is now in New York ready to sail for France. The new Ambassador talked briefly with newspaper men, but declared that there was nothing definite he could say about his plans until he had duly qualified as Ambassador and had been presented to the Secretary of State and the President.

Speaks English Well.

Mr. Berenger talked to the correspondents in English, which he handled very well. When he met them he recalled a newspaper report circulated some weeks ago describing his mysterious absence from his usual haunts in Paris. Inquiries concerning him, according to the report, were finally answered by the disclosure that he had been in hiding studying the English language. Ambassador Berenger described this report as a joke perpetrated upon him by some of his friends.

Washington officials have been given to understand that the new ambassador comes with special instructions to reopen the negotiations for settlement of the $4,000,000,000 French debt. Details of the plans for reopening them, however, are lacking and the ambassador will have nothing to say until he actually begins his mission. Members of the American debt commission feel greatly encouraged, however, over the prospect of a successful conference this time, both sides having learned much from the Caillaux fiasco last fall.

Greek Request Refused.

The American commission yesterday flatly refused a request of the Greek debt commission that $33,000,000 more be loaned to their government before they undertake to arrange a funding agreement for the $15,000,000 principal debt and $3,000,000 interest account already standing against them on the books of the Treasury. This formal proposal from the Greeks has been expected for some time, the original credit that was extended to Greece having been for $50,000,000. But $15,000,000 of this, however, was actually loaned, and the United States does not propose to extend the other $33,000,000 until some plan for payment of the present obligation is agreed upon.

The delegation from Jugoslavia, headed by Dr. Milan Stoyadinovitch, has arrived in Washington and notified Secretary Mellon of their readiness to enter into preliminary negotiations concerning their government's war debt of $65,000,000. Just when the joint conferences will begin has not been decided.

House May Reach Vote On Italian Debt Today

(By Associated Press.)

The House continued its debate over the Italian war debt settlement throughout yesterday's session, with leaders unable to bring about an agreement for a vote. They believe, however, that a majority of those wishing to speak had been heard, and were hopeful that a vote could be reached before adjournment today.

Against assailing the proposed settlement as amounting to virtual cancellation of the obligation, opponents yesterday drew a warm reply from those friendly to the agreement.

Opening debate, Representative Hull (Democrat), Tennessee, asserted that the settlement called for a cancellation of so large a part of the amount due that its acceptance was unfair to American taxpayers. He said the settlement exceeded the point where generosity to Italy ends and fairness to America begins, adding that he would defend Italy against any "imputation" that she would repudiate the debt if an agreement were postponed.

Representative Rathbone (Republican), Illinois, declared Italy entered the world war because it was a "good gamble," and predicted that if the settlement were rejected Premier Mussolini would be "through," thereby making "room for liberty" in Italy.

Defending the settlement, Representative Madden (Republican), Illinois, declared it represented the best terms Italy could meet. "When you have a bankrupt to deal with," he said, "the best thing to do is to get what you can."

U. S. HINTS AT TARIFF REPRISALS TO TURKS

Second Protest on Increase of Duties Filed; No Reply to the First.

Constantinople, Jan. 14 (By A. P.).—The American embassy today renewed its representations to the Turkish government against increased duties on imports from the United States, amounting to eight times the tax on merchandise from countries having commercial treaties with Turkey. The embassy's second protest was necessitated by the fact that the Angora government failed to reply to the initial representations last week.

Reiterating the American objections, the embassy pointed out the balance of trade in favor of Turkey and intimated that the President of the United States may be obliged to use his prerogative by increasing duties on Turkish imports.

American business interests are seriously embarrassed because Turkey failed to give the customary advance notice of the tariff.

BANDITS IN MEXICO MAY HAVE ESCAPED

News That Train Robbers, Who Killed Many, Were Slain Held 'Premature.'

Mexico City, Jan. 14 (By A. P.).—The war department's mystifying policy of silence respecting the pursuit by Federal troops of the bandits who murdered many passengers, trainmen and guards on the Guadalajara-Mexico City train Saturday night continues.

There are two lines of speculation on this policy that the bandits have made their escape and the authorities are reluctant to admit it, or, that the army is awaiting justification for the strong announcement that the outlaws had been annihilated, which apparently was made prematurely.

The day after the Federal troops were ordered out to pursue the bandits, the government announced that an unknown number of the outlaws had been killed in a fight with the troops and that eight others had been captured and executed. Later this announcement was somewhat modified unofficially.

TIENTSIN TO BE PRIZE OF NEW CIVIL CLASH

8,000 Russians in One Army Are Being Prepared for Early Battle.

Peking, Jan. 14 (By A. P.).—Another campaign with Tientsin as the prize is in prospect in north China. Gen Li Ching-ling, former civil governor of Chihli, whom Marshal Feng Yu-hsiang ousted from the great port and industrial center of the north after a bitter struggle in late December, is preparing an effort to retrieve his loss.

Gen. Li is at Tsinanfu, capital of Shantung province, 175 miles south of Tientsin. This city now is the center of great military activity with Gen. Li and Gen. Chang Tsung-chang, governor of Shantung, both followers of Marshal Chang Tso-lin, of Manchuria, preparing their campaign against Tientsin Large quantities of military supplies are being received from Mukden, Marshal Chang Tso-lins readquarters.

Their forces are said to include 8,000 Russians, commanded by Merkuloff, who was head of the White Russian government at Vladivostok in 1921-1922. It is estimated that the two commanders will launch an attack with a total of between 30,000 and 40,000 men before the Chinese new year, which comes on February 13.

INDUSTRIAL MERGER AT ESSEN COMPLETE

Essen, Germany, Jan. 14 (By A. P.).—A huge steel and coal merger embracing leading industrialists of Germany, which was concluded today, represents the preliminary step toward the formation of a gigantic German combine, which is expected to compete in the world's markets with the United States steel interests and other international industrial alliances. The fusion of these Rhenish and Westphalian industries is considered the inauguration of international adjustment of the raw products problem.

While the Krupps are not identified with this merger, other foremost Rhenish organizations are principals, the chief movers being Friedrich Thyssen, Herr Voegler, who was an associate of the late Hugo Stinnes, and Emil Kirdorf, allied with the Thyssens.

Seven concerns or groups comprise the new combine, which will be known as "the United Steel Works, Limited."

ENGINEERS PROPOSE NEW DEPARTMENT FOR PUBLIC WORKS

Abolition of Interior and the Amalgamation of Activities Proposed in Bill.

SUPPORT TO BE SOUGHT THROUGHOUT COUNTRY

Abolition of the Department of the Interior, and the amalgamation of its bureaus with other engineering commissions of the government in a new Department of Public Works and Domain, was proposed yesterday by a national public works conference held in the Mayflower hotel, and attended by delegates from 70 organizations from all sections of the country.

Bills carrying out this purpose will be introduced in Congress by Representative Wyant, of Pennsylvania, and Senator Jones, of Washington, it was said.

Public support for the measure will be sought by a nation-wide organization which will cover all States, cities and counties with committees of engineers and allied professions. Committees already have been organized in 36 States, William McClellan, of New York, who presided at the meeting, announced. Five thousand engineers have been enrolled, he said.

Engineers Propose Bill.

The engineers proposed their bill as a substitute for the government reorganization plan, which has been simmering in Congress because, they said, they were convinced that plan would not be carried out properly because of political factors.

"Government red tape is throttling our internal development," Representative Wyant declared in a speech before the conference. "Our public officials, competent, must carry the yoke of unsound organization."

The engineers propose that the new department shall take over the office of public buildings and grounds, the superintendency of the State, War and Navy buildings, and the Rock creek and Potomac parkway commission, bureau of public roads, office of the supervising architect, board of road commissioners for Alaska, rivers and harbors improvements, Mississippi river commission and California debris commission.

It also would provide for assignment of army engineers to the new department, and opposition to the bill is expected by army engineer officers because of the provisions affecting them.

The annual meeting of the American Engineering council will be held in the Mayflower today.

NOTES OF WAN TRIAL FOUND DESTROYED

from January 22 to January 27. On the latter day, Maj. Gordon said, Wan announced that he was returning to New York.

"Instead of going to New York," Maj. Gordon said, "Wan registered at the Harris hotel, near Union Station. He sent a telegram to his brother, Van, in New York, requesting that he come to Washington. Four hours later he sent him another telegram."

Wan, according to the prosecuting attorney appeared at a window of the mission house in Kalorama road the day before he left and called to a furnace man on the street, telling him that he need not attend the furnace for the next three or four days as the occupants were all going to New York. The bodies of two of the murdered Chinese were found near the furnace.

Kang Li Testifies.

Maj. Gordon told the jury that Kang Li, of Shanghai, called at the mission house on the evening of January 29 and rang the bell. Wan came to the door, he said, and told Li that Wong, Hsei and Wu had all gone out.

Li, who was the first witness yesterday, told of discovering the bodies of the three Chinese on the night of January 31. His story was brief and he was excused without cross-examination.

Other witnesses were Dr. Elijah W. Titus, acting coroner at the time of the murder; Dr. J. Ramsay Nevitt, the coroner, and William Shoneberger, the morgue master. These three were called for the purpose of establishing the death of the three Chinese.

Grover C. Dismukes, the shorthand reporter who took testimony at the first trial of Wan, also was a witness. He was questioned at length about the loss of the shorthand notes he took at the trial.

Defense Cross-Examines.

Former Senator A. Owsley Stanley, and Wilton J. Lambert, defense counsel, took turns in cross-examining the witnesses. The other three members of the defense council, Rudolph H. Yeatman, Charles Fahy, and Arthur Lambert, frequently counseled the member who was conducting the cross-examination.

Wan, seated behind his counsel, usually had his gaze glued on the witnesses, straining to hear every word they said.

HOUSE TO STUDY VALUE OF AIRCRAFT IN DEFENSE

NAVAL INQUIRY PRESSED

(By Associated Press.)

The relative position to be assigned to aircraft as a weapon in the national defense organization is to be given still further study by Congress.

While the House naval committee yesterday pressed forward with its inquiry to determine the potential war power of dirigi the House military committee led to open hearings next we n a number of bills proposing revision of the defense system to accord aviation greater recognition.

Specifically, the military committee will seek testimony Tuesday on a bill by Representative Hill, Republican, of Maryland, to create a department of national defense in which land, sea and air activities would have coequal status. Secretary Davis of the War Department has been asked by the committee to present his view on the proposal.

Meanwhile a number of members of the military committee are drafting a bill designed to carry out recommendations of the President's air board, which proposed creation of additional assistant secretaryships in the war, navy and commerce departments to handle aircraft problems, but opposed any drastic revision of the defense system. It is expected this measure will be introduced this week so Secretary Davis may express his views on its recommendations while discussing the Hill bill.

Several members of the military committee also have indicated that they will seek Col. William Mitchell's views on aviation, if this can be done without causing any embarrassment to the officer, whose sentence by an army court-martial to five years' suspension is now before the President.

Testifying before the naval committee yesterday on a bill by Chairman Butler, to expend $5,000,000 to replace the wrecked Shenandoah with a dirigible three times its size, Capt.- George W. Steele, commandant of the Lakehurst, N. J., naval air station, affirmed his faith in lighter-than-air ships, which he said were in the development stage.

Both Sides Indorse Rail Labor Measure

(By the Associated Press.)

The Watson-Parker railroad labor bill was indorsed yesterday before the Senate Interstate Commerce committee by representatives of both railroad operators and employes. Managers of the bill predicted it would be reported by the committee without delay and would be passed by Congress, holding that it would mean the end of railroad strikes, and the protection of the public interest.

First opposition to the bill is expected to be heard today when representatives of the National Manufacturers association will appear before the committee.

Labor Chief Urges Better-Paid Judges

(By the Associated Press.)

Indorsing pending legislation to increase the pay of Federal judges, John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, has written to the House judiciary committee his reasons for supporting the proposal as a labor leader.

"As a result of experience and observation," Mr. Lewis wrote Chairman Graham, "I am convinced that salaries of Federal judges should be substantially increased in order that we may have an absolutely independent judiciary."

DEMOCRATS OFFER TO SPEED SENATE'S ACTION ON TAX BILL

Smoot Accepts Proposal of Simmons for Vote on February 10.

COMMITTEE FAVORS STAMP LEVY REPEAL

Abolishing of Publicity Given Approval; Alcohol Tax Cut Is Urged.

By the Associated Press).

An offer to set February 10 or earlier as a date for a final vote on pasage of the tax reduction bill was made to the Senate yesterday by Senator Simmons, of North Carolina, spokesman for the Democratic members of the finance committee, which is considering the measure.

The proposal met with approval from Chairman Smoot of the committee, and Senator Simmons said he would put his proposition up to the Senate after debate on the bill had started.

The North Carolina senator, who is ranking Democrat on the committee, told the Senate he made this offer to stop "this cowardly propaganda emanating from administration sources and papers that the determination of Democrats to remedy the bill by proposing their substitute would delay tax reduction beyond March 15, when first income tax installments are due."

Agreement for a vote on the date named would continue the revenue bill on the record-breaking course set by its speedy passage in the House, and would assure application of tax reduction by March 15.

Rushing its consideration of the bill, the finance committee yesterday acted upon several controversial items, including the provision repealing the law allowing publication of amounts of income tax returns. No record was taken on approval of this proposition, but Senator Simmons reserved the right to present an amendment proposing continuance of publicity.

The committee also accepted the following provisions of the House bill:

Repeal of the stamp taxes on conveyances in deeds, instruments or writing.

Repeal of the stamp taxes on proxies for voting and grants of power of attorney.

Reduction of alcohol tax of $2.20 a gallon to $1.65 after January 1, 1927, and to $1.10 after January 1, 1928.

Creation of a tax of one-tenth of 1 cent a gallon on cereal beverages to give the prohibition bureau the right to inspect breweries.

In addition, the committee also voted for repeal of the stamp taxes on customhouse entries and withdrawals, and on steamship passage tickets, which were not touched by the House.

Reduction of the alcohol levy had been strenuously opposed by drug manufacturers on the grounds that it would stimulate bootlegging and patent medicine manufacturing, but the House provision was retained by a vote of 7 to 6.

aside the program adopted by all but one member of the Senate committee on foreign relations and framed after many weeks of consideration and debate.

"We denounced the Swanson resolution as a result of these deliberations," he continued, "as inadequate to protect the interests of the people of the United States. We also filed a report in opposition. It is not what this court will do today or tomorrow, but what its relationship to the league council will become in the sweep of years which must inevitably make it an indissoluble part of the league."

Senator Lenroot, Republican, of Wisconsin, defended abandonment of the Pepper resolution and argued that the last Republican platform specifically had placed the party on record for entry into the court. Borah demanded where the plank was written and Lenroot said he did not know. Then the Idaho senator admitted he had read the plank here in Washington before it was sent to Cleveland, which brought from Mr. Lenroot the statement that he was willing to agree that it expressed the sentiments of President Coolidge and that the vote by which he was elected showed that the people indorsed his stand.

Two Explain Root.

Senators Walsh and Lenroot both insisted that Elihu Root has in various addresses since those previously quoted explained his attitude on American participation in international affairs and argued that neither Mr. Root nor anyone else ever has advocated that this country withhold action on the court plan until codification of international law has been completed.

Earlier in the session a three-cornered duel of words between Senators Walsh (Democrat), Montana; Lenroot and Williams (Republicans), Missouri, held the attention of the chamber for more than an hour. Williams seemingly had angered some of the elder statesmen because he, as a new member whose seat is not yet warm, had raised various perplexing legal questions involving the pending resolution. The Missouri senator refused to modify his position in any way whatever, referring time and again to the court as the "league court," and insisting that, after all, it merely is an agency of the league itself.

Williams Stands by Guns.

Walsh and Lenroot insisted Williams was wrong in saying that the court could pass on immigration and customs matters, but he refused to back down at all. At all times the Missourian insisted that the court is an agency of the league to assist in carrying out the Versailles treaty and maintained this view in the face of all of the opposing statements by his two opponents.

There also was a passage at arms over the Overman reservation, which would exclude consideration by the court of the repudiated indebtedness of the Southern Confederacy. While Overman and Minority Leader Robinson defended the reservation, many anti-court senators assailed it, Senator Reed (Democrat), Missouri, finally interjecting:

"Here's a court so untrustworthy that you gentlemen won't allow it to handle a question of the bonds of your State. How can it be trusted to handle National questions?"

Cole L. Blease (Democrat), South Carolina, in his maiden speech said that he felt proud that he would be the only Southern senator to vote against the resolution. He declared that the majority of the Democrats wanted to get the Republicans into the league so they could laugh at them, so they "have tied the dog under the porch and opened the back door." If this country enters the league, he said every existing statue of George Washington ought to be torn down.

ECLIPSE MAY HELP END SUN'S CORONA MYSTERY

Swarthmore Expedition to Sumatra Obtains Good Photographs.

HINDU CROWD IN FRENZY

(Special Cable Dispatch.)

Calcutta, Jan. 14.—India was convulsed to a religious frenzy by today's solar eclipse. Hundreds of thousands of Hindus from Calcutta congregated on the banks of the sacred Ganges river, where they bathed and prayed for protection from the demon believed to be swallowing the sun, and, which finding it to hot to remain, is crying to loose itself from the sun's grasp.

Swarthmore, Pa., Jan. 14 (By A. P.).—Enthusiastic reports from Dr. John A. Miller, heading the Swarthmore college solar expedition in Sumatra, lead astronomers here to believe they will come nearer to solving the mystery of the sun's weird corona than ever before. Due to unusually active sunspots, great detail in the photographs of the corona was expected.

"Very successful," read a second cablegram from Dr. Miller to Frank D. Aydelotte, president of the college, received today. "Remarkably large prominences," adds the message.

Because of the immense distances from the sun's surface which the corona attains, it has been assumed by astronomers that the corona was not composed of gases, as are the "prominences," seen nearer the surface. What the composition of the corona may be has not been discovered.

"Shape of corona was of maximum type," read the first message. "Thin clouds floated over region of sun during eclipse. All instruments were in good adjustment. The entire program was carried out as planned."

The cablegram expressed fear that four plates exposed in a 15-foot twin camera to check up on the Einstein theory of relativity might not have been successful, because thin clouds may have obscured very faint stars that had to be photographed in the test. The plates exposed in the 62-foot camera were not affected, it was thought.

New York Burglary Insurance Canceled

New York, Jan. 14 (By A. P.).—Drastic restrictions were placed today on the underwriting of burglary policies for the metropolitan area by the National Surety Co., because of the frequent burglaries here, real and faked.

The New York Indemnity Co., a subsidiary specializing in burglary risks, will discontinue such policies, unless underwritten at the main office subject to rigid restrictions, according to A. H. Robinson, treasurer of the indemnity company. Notices have been sent to burglary policyholders that their policies will be cancelled from January 17.

Bandits Are Lectured While They Rob Bank

Des Moines, Iowa, Jan. 14 (By A. P.).—A lecture on the folly of bank robbery, delivered by a young woman clerk, did not deter four men from taking $8,800 from the Continental Trust & Savings Bank today.

"You are not going to get anywhere by holding up this bank," Mrs. Kathryn Anderson, a stenographer, told the robbers. This is just a small bank, getting well under way. It's a nice bank and it won't do you any good to hold it up. Bank robbing never did anybody any good."

Frontenac Hotel In Quebec Has Fire

Quebec, Jan. 14 (By A. P.).—The old wing of the Chateau Frontenac hotel, constructed in the French baronial style, was destroyed by fire tonight. The fire started in the old tower facing on Dufferin terrace and the St. Lawrence river and spread to other parts of the structure. The upper part of the rotunda was totally demolished, while the roof of the old wing fell in.

This wing contained very few guest rooms, having been in a large measure superseded by later additions to the building.

U. S. HAND IN CROP EXPORTING OPPOSED AT TWO MEETINGS

HAUGEN BILL BACKED AT HOUSE HEARING

(By the Associated Press.)

The controverted question of how to treat the farm surplus angle of farm relief legislation was revived yesterday in two separate quarters where agricultural proposale were discussed with various farm leaders declaring for noninterference by the government in any plan for handling crops for export.

Although three formal addresses were on the program of the fourth national cooperative marketing conference, including one by Secretary Jardine, only one, that of Carl Williams, editor of the Oklahoma Farmer-Stockman, and member of the executive committee of the cooperatives' national council, was devoted to the surplus crop problem, which has split the conference into two groups.

Mr. Williams argued that the solution should be left to the farmers, without government help, a view contrary to that expressed to the conference by former Gov. Lowden of Illinois, another executive committee member. Aaron Sapiro, attorney for cooperative associations, meanwhile reiterated before the House agriculture committee the suggestion he made to the conference that the surplus problem be not linked with any cooperative marketing measure.

Jardine Approves Bill.

The Haugen bill, providing for a division of cooperative marketing in the Department of Agriculture, received indorsement both at the cooperatives' conference and before the House committee. Secretary Jardine pleaded for conference support of the measure, while Mr. Sapiro urged its adoption in testimony before the committee. A. M. Lewis, representing the national grange, told the committee his organization was for the bill in principle.

J. W. Brinton, of St. Paul, foreign director of the Minnesota Wheat Growers Cooperative association, attacked the government's method of grading wheat in testifying before the House committee, declaring the physical appearance only and not the protein content was taken into consideration. He said this frequently resulted in No. 4 wheat bringing more money than No. 1, and asserted his organization loses at least 5 cents a bushel because of the Federal system.

Cooperative Farmers Are Merry at Banquet

Agricultural problems were forgotten last night at the banquet of the Co-Op Press club in the Lee house. Conflicting plans of farm relief, which split the conference into two factions, were made light of in the festive spirit of the evening.

Director of the Budget Herbert M. Lord was the victim of satirical sketches by O. M. Kyle, writer on agricultural subjects, of this city. The take-off was directed at Gen. Lord's passion for economy and his alleged blunt army methods of dealing with economic subjects.

Four trophies were awarded at the dinner for the year's best publications on cooperative marketing. The Frank O. Lowden trophy for the best cooperative marketing newspaper went to Fred Wilmarth, of Oklahoma City, Okla., editor of the Oklahoma Cotton Grower. J. Clyde Marquis, of the Agricultural Department, made the award. The R. W. Bingham trophy for the best feature story was won by R. H. McGrew, of San Francisco. Dan A. Wallace, of St. Paul, presented the trophy.

The Aaron Sapiro trophy for the best advertising booklet on cooperative marketing went to Miss Mabel McCurdy, of Los Angeles. Robert Tinsman, president of the Federal Advertising Agency of New York, presented the prize. The three trophies were gold watches.

The Sears-Roebuck agridultural foundation trophy, consisting of a set of encyclopedia books, given annually for the best editorial on cooperative marketing, was won by J. W. Cummins, of Wichita, Kans. Wheeler McMillan, an editor of Farm and Fireside, presented the books.

Officers of the club elected for the ensuing year were H. C. Booker, of Columbia, S. C., president; William Stahl, of this city, vice president, and Robin Hood, director of public information for the national council, reelected secretary. L. F. McKay, retiring president of the club, was toastmaster.

R. H. Cole, 64, Falls Ill on Street; Dies

Becoming suddenly ill while walking on the street in front of 3519 Fourteenth street northwest last night, Robert H. Cole, 64 years old, of 1364 Quincy street northwest, fell to the sidewalk. He was taken home in the patrol wagon from the Tenth precinct and died before Dr. Frank H. Leech, of 1359 Columbia road northwest, reached him.

High blood pressure and paralysis of the heart were given as the cause of death.

Roger D. Williams Files Divorce Suit

Lexington, Ky., Jan. 14 (By A. P.).—Alleging desertion and abandonment, Capt. Roger D. Williams, son of the late Roger D. Williams, has filed suit today for divorce from his wife, who is the daughter of Count Luderie Divonne, former Ambassador to the United States. Custody of their daughter is to be given the mother, according to the petition.

Mrs. Williams is with her parents at Divonne Les Bann, France, Capt. Williams' petition stated. Capt. and Mrs. Williams were married in Paris April 23, 1919. The petition alleges that Mrs. Williams deserted her husband on January 8, 1920, and that she refuses to come to the United States.

U. S. Rubber Holdings In Sumatra Extended

New York, Jan. 14 (By A. P.).—Further expansion of the United States Rubber Co.'s holdings of rubber growing lands in Sumatra, Dutch East Indies, was announced today by C. B. Segar, president of the company. The new addition of 5,700 acres was acquired December 9, last. Negotiations are pending for other areas aggregating 12,500 acres.

The company has rubber growing properties of 124,014 acres in the Dutch East Indies and in Malaya. Sixty-eight per cent of the planted areas are producing, yielding approximately 20,000,000 pounds of rubber last year.

COURT GETS APPEAL OF JONES BROTHERS

Convicted Men Contend 'Dry' Case Indictment Was Defective.

Special to The Washington Post.

Richmond, Va., Jan. 14.—The appeal of Neufield T. Jones and Winfield Jones, brothers, convicted in Baltimore of being involved in a conspiracy to sell denatured alcohol, was submitted after argument today in the United States circuit court of appeals here. Each was sentenced to two years in the Atlanta penitentiary.

Two Washington lawyers appeared today for the convicted men, William J. Neal and Robert T. Scott. They contended there were defects in the indictment under which conviction was obtained, asserting that it was sufficiently faulty to justify a reversal.

Mr. Neal in his argument maintained the indictment was limited to a conspiracy to violate section 183 of the national prohibition act and not, therefore, a conspiracy to divert unlawfully alcohol or to violate the terms of the withdrawal permit.

Poison Liquor Arrest Is Made at Annapolis

Special to The Washington Post.

Annapolis, Jan. 14.—State's Attorney Brady's investigation of the deaths of six persons and serious illness of another from drinking poison liquor today led to the arrest of Joseph Lewis, 40-year-old resident of Annapolis, on a technical charge of violating the liquor law.

It is alleged that Lewis was the seller of the rum that blinded Charles Thompson, a painter at the Naval Academy. Blindness is total in one eye and there is but scant vision in the other. Thompson, who also had temporarily lost his speech, said today that the alleged whisky was purchased from Lewis.

Mussolini Reported In Religious Marriage

London, Jan. 14 (By A. P.).—A Chiasso (Switzerland) dispatch to the Daily Herald (labor organ) asserts that Premier Mussolini of Italy was united in religious matrimony with his present wife, Rachele Mussolini, at Milan, a few hours before leaving there on December 29. Mussolini's wife was formerly Signora Rachele Guidi.

The ceremony, the dispatch adds, was performed at Mussolini's private residence, the Vatican having granted a marriage license in compliance with the premier's wish to keep the matter secret. The previous marriage of Mussolini and his wife was by civil process.

President Doubles Gift to Town Chest

Northampton, Mass., Jan 14 (By A. P.).—President Coolidge has doubled the contribution he made last year to the community chest of his home town. A letter from the White House, made public today by the campaign committee, indorsed the community chest as embracing the principles of efficiency and economy with "that cooperation which is essential if waste and duplication are to be avoided."

The committee has declined to make public the amount of the President's contribution.

Man Burns His Money To Avoid Heirs' Fight

Chicago, Jan. 14 (By A. P.).—No relatives of John Kelnar will quarrel over the $4,000 he had saved during his 63 years of life. He made sure of that before he slashed his wrists and throat and died.

He withdrew the entire amount from the bank, asking for it in new $10 bills. Then he made a bonfire of the currency. Police found charred remnants of the crisp money when a suicide note pinned to his body told of the disposal of the savings "because I didn't want anybody to fight over it."

Moscow's Population, 2,225,000.

Moscow, Jan. 14 (By A. P.).—Moscow has become a city of first magnitude. Census figures just completed fix the total population at 2,225,000, as against 1,617,000 in 1920. The city's area now totals more than 60,000 acres, compared with 37,000 acres in 1912.

HEARINGS ON DEATH PENALTY HERE MAY RIVAL DAYTON TRIAL

Darrow, Malone, Laws and Mott Have Indicated They Will Appear.

OPENING DISCUSSION SET FOR JANUARY 28

Proponents for Bill Abolishing Capital Punishment Want Model for Nation.

Hearings on bills pending in both houses of Congress to abolish capital punishment in the District may develop into a show somewhat rivaling that staged at Dayton, Tenn., it was indicated yesterday.

Already the advocates of the abolition of capital punishment throughout the country have rallied to the support of the measures.

Leaders in the movement against capital punishment such as Clarence J. Darrow, the Chicago attorney; Dudley Field Malone, of New York; Warden Lewis E. Laws, of Sing Sing, and former Warden Osborn Mott have asked to be notified when the hearings begin and have indicated that they probably would be present.

On the House side the matter is in charge of a subcommittee headed by Representative McLeod, of Michigan. Hearings have been set to begin January 28, the date being placed far in advance in order to give those residing in distant places who have indicated that they want to be heard, a chance to come here.

The measures, introduced in the House by Representative Kvale, of Minnesota, and in the Senate by Senator Shipstead, of the same State, have been approved by the District commissioners.

The bills have attracted little attention locally. But considerable interest has been aroused outside the city.

Correspondence to Representative McLeod indicates that those active in the movement to abolish capital punishment in this country see in the local proposals opportunity to write one of those so-called "model" laws which frequently are prescribed for the District.

Senator King, of Utah, a member of the Senate District committee, has made known that he was opposed to the measure. Consideration of the subject at the committee's meeting Wednesday was deferred at his request.

In view of developments it is considered that the Senate committee will let the House committee fight out the matter first.

Abolition of capital punishment here would be another step in the reform initiated at the last session. That session passed a law substituting electrocution for hanging as a means of inflicting the death penalty. The scaffold at the District jail has been dismantled, but the electric chair has not yet been set up.

Woman, 78, Is Denied Balm From Man, 76

Milwaukee, Wis., Jan. 14.—A 76-year-old man was acquitted by a jury today of charges of assault and breach of promise, brought by a 78-year-old woman. Herman Leitzke, formerly of Wausau, Wis., was defendant.

Mrs. Herwert asked $5,000 heart balm because, she testified, Leitzke had not married her as he promised. Another $5,000 demand was made for injuries she said she suffered in the alleged attempt at assault.

The jury found no promise had been made and no assault attempted.

Somaliland Rebellion Crushed by Italians

Rome, Jan. 14 (By A. P.).—The government announced today that the resistance of the natives in Northern Italian Somaliland, where operations have been conducted since October with a view to the firm establishment of the Italian protectorate, has been crushed completely.

The announcement says that Italian political and military control of the region will be speedily realized.

He announced that any couple having more corn than money can become man and wife through his assistance for two bushels of corn.

Premier King Wins Vote of Confidence

Ottawa, Jan. 15 (Friday) (By A. P.).—The government of Premier Mackenize King was given a vote of confidence in the house of commons early this morning. The vote on the conservative amendment of nonconfidence was: For, 120; against, 123.

SEVEN VOTES TO ONE.

The so-called "Hughes reservation" which seeks to give the United States equal voting power with other international states in nominating and electing judges of the world court is challenged by J. Reuben Clark, former Solicitor of the Department of State, in an interview appearing in another column of The Post. Mr. Clark's competence to analyze the situation will not be questioned by those who know him.

The votes of the British empire in the league assembly number seven, as follows: Great Britain, Canada, India, Irish Free State, Australia, New Zealand and South Africa. At present the British empire has one vote in the league council.

In the covenant of the league of nations and the statute of the court the self-governing dominions of the British empire are given the status of separate and independent states. Each has the same voting strength in the assembly as is possessed by any independent government. Each has the same right to nominate candidates for judges of the world court. Each except the Irish Free State has adhered to the world court protocol.

Great Britain, Canada, India and South Africa have availed themselves of the right to nominate candidates for judges of the world court. For the original members of the world court bench Canada nominated Sir Robert Borden and Charles Doherty; India nominated Sir P. S. Sivaswami Aiyar, Amir Ali, S. R. Das and William Wallach; South Africa nominated Sir Johannes W. Wessels, and Great Britain nominated Viscount Robert B. Finlay. When a vacancy occurred through the death of Ruy Barbosa, Canada nominated Frank A. Anglin and E. Lafleur; India nominated Amir Ali, and South Africa nominated Sir Johannes Wessels.

In the election of judges Great Britain, Canada, Australia, New Zealand, Irish Free State, India and South Africa have one vote each in the assembly. The United States, if it should adhere to the court, would have one vote.

In order to remove this inequality between the United States and the British empire a reservation was proposed by former Secretary Hughes, which is now before the Senate. It is as follows:

> That the United States shall be permitted to participate through representatives designated for the purpose and upon an equality with the other states' members, respectively, of the council and assembly of the league of nations in any and all proceedings of either the council or the assembly for the election of judges or deputy judges of the permanent court of international justice, or for the filling of vacancies.

So long as the British empire has but one vote in the council the United States, if admitted, would be on an equality with the British empire in the council; but in the assembly, under Mr. Hughes' reservation, the United States would merely be on an equality with one of the parts of the British empire. Each of these parts is a "member of the league of nations" and entitled to the same rights in the assembly as would be accorded to the United States.

Mr. Clark makes the point that the self-governing dominions of the British empire are less independent than the States of this Union. He holds that the "equality" aimed at by the Hughes reservation can not be obtained without giving each American State a vote on a parity with Canada or New Zealand. The alternative is to give the entire British empire one vote, on a parity with the entire United States. As the British empire is a single international state, with the treaty-making power lodged in the government at London, Mr. Clark suggests that it is not entitled to more power in the election of world court judges than would be possessed by the United States, which is a single international state with the treaty-making power lodged in the government at Washington.

The inequality between the United States and the British empire was one of the reasons why Americans objected to entry into the league of nations. That inequality exists in the election of judges of the world court, and would continue under the Hughes reservation.

Under the court statute, assuming that the United States should accept it with the Hughes reservation, it would be in the power of the council and assembly to elect British, Canadian, Australian, Indian, Irish, New Zealand and South African judges of the world court, but there could never be more than one American judge.

If the United States should succeed in persuading other nations to elect more than one American judge, the election of the second judge would be void under this provision of the court statute (Art. 10):

> In the event of more than one national of the same member of the league being elected by the votes of both the assembly and the council, the eldest of these only shall be considered as elected.

As Canada and the other members of the British empire are all members of the league, each is entitled to one judge, even if another national of some other part of the British empire has been elected also.

No doubt the Hughes amendment will be recast by the supporters of the world court in the Senate, so that the inequality between the United States and the British empire will be removed. That this inequality exists is admitted by the Hughes reservation itself.

A book on child psychology may help if it is long and thin and narrow enough.

THE TACNA-ARICA QUESTION.

The disorders in Tacna and Arica are increasing in violence, in spite of the strenuous efforts of Gen. Pershing and his American associates to calm the population by assuring them that all their rights will be safeguarded by the plebiscite commission. On January 6 three members of the Peruvian delegation and thirty assistants were severely wounded by rioters, who carried their disorders to the very door of Gen. Pershing's residence. An American who had been employed by the Peruvians to sell newspapers was set upon, and Mr. Dennis, legal counsel to Gen. Pershing, was subjected to insult. Gen. Pershing declared that it was a mistake on the part of the Peruvians to employ an American, as this action gave the Chilean population an opportunity to charge that Americans generally were in sympathy with Peru.

Gen. Lassiter is on his way from Panama to take over the powers exercised by Gen. Pershing as president of the plebiscitary commission. Gen. Lassiter will be confronted with the same difficulties that have baffled Gen. Pershing, unless the Chilean government shall find it possible to maintain order.

The agreement between Chile and Peru which formed the basis of the plebiscite award provided that, in case the holding of a plebiscite should be declared in order, the arbitrator should have power to determine the conditions thereof. In case the arbitrator should hold that a plebiscite need not be held, it was agreed that, pending an agreement, "the administrative organization of the provinces shall not be disturbed."

Apparently this agreement contemplated that the arbitrator should have full power to modify the "administrative organization of the provinces" if necessary to secure a fair plebiscite; but that, if no plebiscite were declared, the administrative organization of the provinces should not be disturbed while Chile and Peru sought another solution of their dispute. Peru suggested that a neutral authority be placed in charge of the administrative organization of the provinces during the plebiscitary period, but the arbitrator held that he had no power to do this.

From that time there has been a conflict between the Chilean government and the plebiscite commission. The administration of Tacna and Arica has been such as to make a fair plebiscite impossible. Gen. Pershing, with the assistance of his legal counsel, drew up a motion, which the commission adopted, setting forth certain modifications of the Chilean administration as indispensable to the holding of a fair plebiscite. Chile appealed from this decision, and the arbitrator now has before him the arguments of Chile and Peru on the appeal. Presumably, Gen. Lassiter will "mark time" at Arica until President Coolidge has passed upon Chile's appeal.

The fundamental question at issue is whether Chile will modify its administration in Tacna and Arica in such fashion as to enable all qualified voters to go freely to the polls and vote, and also permit qualified Peruvians now in Chile to go freely to Tacna and Arica for the purpose of voting. This question is complicated by the political situation in Chile. With the best of intentions on the part of those in authority, it may be impossible for them to make the modifications required without precipitating a revolution which would throw them out of office and bring into power a set of officials who would resist all demands of the plebiscite commission.

Thus, both the ability and desire of Chile to fulfill the agreement upon which the plebiscite is based are undergoing a severe test. With unsettled political conditions at home and with a turbulent population in Tacna and Arica to hold in restraint, the efforts of all patriotic Chileans to maintain unsullied the honor of their country in fulfilling the obligations of the plebiscite award are deserving of high praise.

Babel ended a certain tower of that name, but it doesn't seem to affect the radio much.

GRADUATION GOWNS.

The thirty prospective girl graduates of Columbia Junior High school who have agreed to appear at the exercises January 28 in dresses that will cost not more than $5 each are setting an example that may well be followed by the pupils of other schools in Washington and elsewhere. Limiting the cost of the gowns to $5 each and the determination to follow a standard of style in their construction will not, however, take from the young women the natural feminine desire to appear to the best advantage, inasmuch as they plan to make of the ensemble an alluring picture symbolizing the rainbow. Each of the girls will be garbed in a gown of different hue, trimmed with rosettes of voile and with ribbons. The dresses will reach below the knees and will have sleeves, with a fairly tight bodice and a full skirt. Black shoes will be worn to avoid the extra expense of footwear to match the colors.

This is really the most sensible innovation that has been presented by a group of feminine graduates in a long time, and it will doubtless eventuate in an artistic triumph that will be a delight to the eye and a pleasure to the parents. The scheme has been approved by Superintendent Kramer, in charge of high schools, who truthfully says that it costs parents enough nowadays to send their children through school without having graduation exercises turned into a competition of spending. He suggests that the same plan might be followed in every high and junior high school in the city, and that there need be no sacrifice of beauty. Mr. Kramer might have taken in a larger territory than the District of Columbia. It is a fine idea, and certainly the young women who conceived it are deserving of much credit. Graduates of high schools or colleges will find plenty of competition when they go out into the world. They can well afford to abandon the striving to outdo one another on graduation day.

If if wasn't for the spirit of cooperation, think how much worse the revolving door would be.

SPASMS OF CLEANLINESS.

Health Officer Fowler has started a campaign for clean shaving brushes and sterilized razors. More than forty tonsorial artists are to be cited to show cause why they have failed to live up to the health regulations. This campaign has been going on for nearly two weeks, and may continue for another fortnight before it fades.

Some years ago the District health officer started a similar campaign against unclean eating houses. There were many arrests, and to the astonishment of the entire community the establishment of one colored caterer on K street, near the market, was made famous through the official announcement that that particular lunchroom was the cleanest in the city. About the same time there was a vigorous movement on the part of the health authorities to force the butcher and the baker to cover the supplies which he sent to the retailers. That campaign was vigorous while it lasted, and for some little time thereafter meats and bread were carefully covered and screened from the flying dust as they were carried from the packing houses and the bakeries to the hotels and stores.

The health department also conducted a campaign for cleaner alleys. Owners of buildings were required to see that the debris from their shops and kitchens were so gathered as to be easily handled by the garbage and trash collectors, while the street cleaning department was required to pay some attention to the condition of the paving in these alleys. All these attacks of municipal "complex of cleanliness" proved sporadic, and within six months of the first outbreak the status quo ante had been fully restored.

There has been no serious visitation of the bug of municipal cleanliness for the past decade until the recent movement to oust the starlings and the sparrows from their roosts in the trees along the thirteen-hundred block on Pennsylvania avenue. That contest lasted nearly a week. After Dr. Fowler has brought back "a clean towel with every shave," will he once more devote some attention to the condition of the spoons served by Alcibiades Economopolos in his "Athenian Palace," and insist that the server at the "steam table" refrain in future from testing the temperature of the soup by the insertion of his thumb in each bowl?

The happiest country is the one with the greatest number of things listed as necessities.

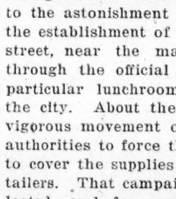
It is estimated that the energy now used in yearning would earn 87 per cent of the things yearned for.



The Worst Story I Have Heard Today

By Will Rogers

The Worst Story I heard today was sent to me by Tyler M. Bullock, 63 East Thirteenth street, Atlanta, Ga. I was enjoying a wonderful day down in Atlanta a short time ago, and visited that wonderful Stone Mountain Monument that they are building down there. It's worth the trip just to see this gigantic undertaking, and if you read this I want you to buy one of those Half dollars that have been coined just for this remarkable occasion. They cost you a Dollar now, and will be priceless in years to come, and think what you are contributing to. You in the North, you won; they lost. It's all over, but help them in a big way to perpetuate their wonderful men. Just the unique idea alone is worth a dollar from everybody in America.

Here is Tyler's story, and I know it is true.

Dear Will: I am not a big prominent man like you write about, but here is a little happening that came to me. I lost my hearing on the other side, which makes this happening possible. While in the Hospital at Fort McHenry I was approached by one of my fellow Patients, who wanted some information. I always had a pad and pencil handy for any one to write what they wanted to say to me. I handed it to him and told him, "Buddy, I am Totally deaf; write it."

He took the Pencil and stood there, he didn't do a thing. I commenced getting about half sore. Finally another patient come up and I told him about this fellow standing there. He spoke to the fellow and then wrote on my pad, "He is totally Illiterate and can't write." He offered to double up with me and him do the hearing for me and me do the writing for him.

That shows you the old spirit of those Boys; always find a way out. Well, any way, Tyler, if it's any news to you you are not missing much by not hearing. There is nothing worth hearing. Personally I believe you are enjoying a blessing. Saxophones have come in since you were in France. And the old Boy that can't write ain't so worse off. Look what the ones of us that can write are writing. If nobody could write, everybody would be the gainer. So long, Tyler. I will see you next year in Atlanta.

His Master's (?) Voice.

Inequality of Nations in World Court Plan For the Nomination and Election of Judges

THE question of the equality of rights of all nations adhering to the world court, in the matter of nominating and electing judges of the court, was discussed yesterday by J. Reuben Clark, of Utah, in an interview with a reporter of The Post. Mr. Clark was formerly solicitor of the Department of State and has represented the United States in many arbitration cases. His knowledge of international law is recognized both at home and abroad.

"Does the Hughes reservation insure equality of voting power between the United States and the British empire?" asked the reporter.

"No," replied Mr. Clark. "The reservation was intended to provide that the United States should, in the nomination and election of judges to the world court, stand upon the same footing as each of the other powers or international states. In no other way could that 'equality,' which is the basis of all intercourse among independent sovereign states, be worked out. But it appears obvious that the reservation as drafted is inadequate for this purpose.

"Under the fourth article of the world court statute every national group represented on the permanent court of arbitration at The Hague and every member of the league not represented on this Hague tribunal, may each nominate four persons whose names are placed on the list from which the league council and assembly elect the members of the world court. Thus Great Britain, the empire, or commonwealth, if it be preferred, is a member of The Hague tribunal and may nominate four persons; and Canada, Australia, South Africa, New Zealand, India and Ireland, being members of the league though not members of The Hague tribunal, may also each nominate four persons for places on the list. Taken as a whole, the British Empire, the international state, may thus nominate 28 persons, whose names are placed in this list from which the world court is chosen. Under the proposed reservation as drawn, the United States, the international state, could nominate but four persons for placing on this list. This clearly is not an equality as between international states.

"The same relative disparity would exist in the election of judges from the list, by the council and assembly of the league, and the disparity might even become greater. In the council, Great Britain has (as the council is now constituted) one vote; but if, as seems possible, one of her 'self-governing' political entities—that is, Canada, Australia, South Africa, New Zealand, India or Ireland—should also become a member of the council, then Great Britain would have there two votes; if two of these 'self-governing' entities should become members of the council, then Great Britain would have three votes, and so on until Great Britain might have in the council a total of five votes. While this is unlikely, it is possible.

"The United States under the proposed reservation could in no event have more than one vote.

"But the disparity in the voting power in the assembly would be much greater than this: it would be seven to one. That is, Great Britain herself, and the 'self-governing' dominions and India, would have one vote each, or a total of seven votes, whereas the United States would have but one vote.

"That is to say, in the election of judges, under the situation that would be created by the [illegible] reservation, Great Britain, the international state, would always have, combining the votes in the council and in the assembly, a total of eight votes, and might have twelve, while the United States, the international state, could have but two."

"What is the remedy?"

"Either one of two obvious remedies may be applied," said Mr. Clark, "to secure the 'equality' which seems to lie at the basis of the proposed reservation—either increase the votes of the United States or decrease the votes of Great Britain.

"If the remedy be the increase of the vote of the United States, then the extent of such increase should not be a mere arbitrary one which would always give rise to discussion and possible international difference, but should be an accurate determination upon the same principles that were applied in determining the extent of the British vote. The British vote was determined, it is said, on the theory that each of the 'self-governing' dominions and India, and to each of whom a vote was given, was more or less autonomous in the judicial, legislative and executive branches of government—they were 'self governing.'

"But none of them has the power of conducting its own foreign affairs. The legislative power of each is confined to its local problems; legislation for the British international state appears lodged in the parliament of Great Britain. The judicial power of each appears likewise confined to matters affecting its local problems and its local legislation, the judicial power for the British international state seeming to be lodged in the courts of Great Britain itself, culminating in the house of lords. Indeed, in certain local matters an appeal lies from the highest local court of the 'self-governing' entity to courts of Great Britain—that is, to the privy council, and, as it appears in certain cases, to the house of lords. The executive power of each is also confined to the administration of its own local affairs, the executive power of the British international state being lodged in the government of Great Britain, with the king at the head.

"There is not one of these tests or characteristics of a British 'self-governing' entity which is not just as applicable to the individual States of this Union as to those British 'self-governing' entities. In broad general principles the two systems are the same.

"But more than this may be said in favor of our States as against these British dominions and India.

"Our States elect their own chief executives; the British 'self-governing' entities have their chief executives appointed by the crown.

"Our central government has only such powers as the people of the United States have given to it; the reserve powers are in the States. In the British system the 'self-governing' dominions and India have the powers which the British central government has granted to them, the reserve powers apparently remaining in the central British government.

"It may be also observed as to India that the central British government has reserved to itself and its representative in India certain legislative functions in the local affairs of India, and [illegible] at these functions may be exer[illegible]d against the will of the legislati[illegible] branch of the Indian government.

"Thus there is a materially greater political autonomy resting with the individual States of the United States than rests with the individual 'self-governing' dominions and India of the British empire or commonwealth.

"Applying to the United States the same principles for creating voting units in the league bodies that are applied to the British commonwealth, the United States should have for its component States, 48 eight votes; for its territories and insular possessions, Alaska, Hawaii, Porto Rico and the Philippines (which in governmental form much more nearly resemble the British 'self-governing' dominions and India than do our States), four votes; and for the United States, as an international state, one vote, or a total of 53 votes in the assembly, and of one vote with a possible five votes in the council.

"Under these same determining rules, the United States and its component political entities would have the right to nominate 212 persons whose names should be placed on the list from which would be elected the members of the world court.

"These principles would result in placing us on an equality with Great Britain, since it would apply to us, as to nominations and elections for the world court, the same principles that are applied to Great Britain.

"The alternative plan would be to reduce the British power of nomination to that of one group of The Hague tribunal, and the power of voting to one vote in the council and one in the assembly.

"Under either of these plans an absolute equality could be established between the United States, the international state, and the British empire, the international state. The proposition might be crystallized thus: Fifty-three for us or one for Britain."

A BROADER VISION.

Clem Yore, Rocky Mountain guide, tells of his experience in taking a famous banker to see the wonders of the timber line in the mountains of Colorado, says McClure's Magazine. The banker was first awed and then became humble.

"I'm going back to my desk with a different idea of the universe," said the banker. "Up here it doesn't make a bit of difference whether I borrow or lend."

Why Rats Leave Ships.

Baltimore Sun: Cats desert ships, as rats are supposed to do, but for different reasons, according to the radio operator on board the Cold Harbor. He says that they leave if they do not like the galley or the cabins, and when they look over another ship as a prospective home they investigate as carefully as any newly married couple examine their first apartment. Is it true that rats really desert a ship because of premonitions, or is it a sailor's superstition, of which there are many? Many tales are told of rats scuttling down the ropes when a vessel is in harbor, and the vessel going down on the next trip. But we have our doubts.

The Family Pew.

Brooklyn Eagle: Most thoughtful churchmen will agree with Dr. Heischmann, pastor of St. Peter's Lutheran church, that Sunday school is no substitute for child attendance at regular services. The reestablishment of the old-fashioned "family pew" would mean much to the future of organized religion.

PRESS COMMENT

"Burnsides."

Philadelphia Record: The terrifying report comes from New York that the immigration officials at Ellis island have recently admitted to our shores a man afflicted with side-whiskers. The fact that this highly "undesirable" newcomer is a literary person should have no weight with us at all. Side-whiskers have been out of style here almost from the closing years of the civil war, when they were known as "burnsides" because Gen. Burnside, U. S. A., affected them. Of late years there has been no doubt as to the low grade of that sort of foliage. "A hare-lip," says the distinguished humorist and censor elegantiarum, George Ade, "is a misfortune, but side-whiskers are a man's own fault."

Officials and the Dry Law.

Ohio State Journal: When Gen. Andrews took charge of prohibition enforcement he announced that he was through buying Scotch whisky of the bootleggers and now City Manager Sherrill feelingly appeals to the prominent business executives of Cincinnati not to offer him a drink, for fear he might take it when he knows he ought not to in his position, and if we can only get everybody on the public pay roll we may enforce her yet, except for congressmen and enforcement agents in active field service.

Waterways.

Kansas City Star: Gov. Christianson of Minnesota terms "ungenerous" the opposition of New York commercial interests to the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence waterway project. If temporarily the roads centering at the port of New York should be deprived of a little traffic, the result would be mainly relief from the congestion which for years has hampered their operation. The port of New York, also congested for years, might enjoy some of the same relief, still maintain itself in very substantial fashion and eventually pick up not a little of the additional traffic that improved transportation facilities had created.

Bravery of Science.

Baltimore Sun: Yesterday Dr. John J. Abel, of the Johns Hopkins Medical school, worked in his laboratory, although his leg was broken in an automobile accident only five days ago, which shows the stuff that scientists are made of. He keeps the leg is a cast and hobbles about between his test tubes and apparatus. Most men would be pleased to have an opportunity to stay away from business for three or four weeks, and would be happy to hear their relatives remarking on the terrible time they had had.

Hip-Pocket Suits.

New York Herald-Tribune: In supporting football as played at New York university Chancellor Brown remarked in a speech: "I venture to call your attention to the fact that there is no hip pocket in a football suit." By inference one is left with the conclusion that Chancellor Brown believes there are "hip pockets" in other kinds of suits.

Opponents as well as proponents of prohibition will unite with Chancellor Brown for a campaign against "hip pockets." There is no place for them in any American suit. The sooner tailors return to the building of suits of preprohibition style the better every one will be pleased.

Poor "Tut."

Philadelphia Inquirer: Tutankhamen, we read, is to rest eventually in the British museum. It seems a shame to put the old boy up against all that competition.

The Chief Justice and Mrs. Taft.
Mr. Justice and Mrs. Van Devanter.
Mr. Justice McReynolds.
Mr. Justice and Mrs. Butler.

Commissioners Know Area Was Neglected in Past, Says Council Member.

DECLARES OFFICIALS FAIR TOWARD SECTION

New Fire Apparatus to Go Where It Is Most Needed, He States.

The Southeast will receive appropriations from the present Congres which will relieve considerably the condition of some of the streets and appropriations will be also made for new fire apparatus which will be placed "where it is most needed," Dr. George C. Havenner, member of the Citizens' Advisory council, declared yesterday.

Sommenting on an article published in The Post a few days ago regarding the bad condition of some of the streets in the Southeast, Dr. Havenner said:

"It is true that streets south of the Capitol are in a very poor condition. However, I am inclined to believe that from now on the Southeast will receive its share of public improvements. I have found the District officials eminently fair in their views toward this section of the city.

Says Share Increasing.

"I think they realize that it has been neglected in years past, and are now doing what they can to correct this neglect. A study of the annual appropriation for the several sections will show that the Southeast has received in the last two years a considerable increase over previous years in street improvements.

"Now that we have the gas tax for street paving it ought not to be many years before all the streets and arterial highways reaching out of the city are paved."

Dr. Havenner declared he looked forward to seeing many streets in the southeast paved during the coming year. Several of the streets complained of are already in line for paving and improvement, he said.

Commissioner Bell Praised.

He praised the attitude of Engineer Commissioner Bell toward the section, and declared that "he is as fair as any man we have ever had." The commissioners are giving more attention to the southeast than ever before, he declared. He declared that past neglect was in a large measure due to the inactivity of the citizens themselves, but now that the citizens are beginning to wake up, they are receiving the benefits which the section needs.

Commenting on another article in The Post in regard to the condition of fire apparatus in the southeast, Dr. Havenner said:

"Chief Watson has for a number of years been asking for better equipment to replace all worn-out pieces. But on each occasion he has been doled out only a few pieces, and therefore has had to do the best he could with a great deal of old equipment.

Sees Gradual Process.

"This year he has asked not only for funds for one or more new houses, but has entered quite an item to replace this antiquated equipment.

"To build up the fire department as it should be, would require an amount which would considerably increase the tax rate. And so it must be built up gradually.

"But I know that an unusual effort is being made to remedy conditions. Several new pieces of equipment will be provided for at this session of Congress. And it will go where it is most needed. I make that statement because, although I know that apparatus in the southeast is bad. I do not know how much bad equipment is in other sections."

A seven-and-a-half-pound son was born to Assistant Secretary of War and Mrs Hanford MacNider yesterday morning at Garfield hospital. The baby was named Tom, Col. MacNider announced yesterday.

Rapid Transit Here Predicted by Covell

Stating that he thought there would be no more extensions of the underground trolley system in Washington except for connections, Maj. William E. R. Covell, assistant engineer commissioner, in his speech yesterday before the Transportation club, formerly the Traffic club, of Washington, at the Occidental hotel, quoted statistics from London showing that buses are coming more and more into use. He expects a similar increase here.

When the population of Washington reaches a million, rapid transit lines, probably subways, will be constructed, Maj. Covell thinks, by means of a public fund. All the great American cities having rapid transit lines acquired them shortly after reaching the million mark, he said.

The association passed a resolution extending its appreciation to Representative Blanton for this bill. Milton D. Smith, retiring president, introduced a resolution, unanimously passed, urging police officials to adopt a uniform similar to the new army uniforms with open collar.

CLUBWOMEN'S BOARD URGES ART GALLERY

Proposal for establishment of a national art gallery in Washington, to be built at a cost of $10,000,000, was approved by the board of directors of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, meeting yesterday at 1734 N street northwest.

Indorsement of the project was voted on the motion of Mrs. Rose V. S. Berry, of New York, chairman of the fine arts committee. Clubwomen throughout the country were urged to impress members of Congress from their districts with the importance of the project. The plan is to have the gallery made a part of the government building program. The building would house all paintings and statuary presented the government.

Support of the world court plan was reiterated by the board, which also approved exchange of students between the United States and South American countries, advocated by Mrs. E. O. Leatherwood, wife of Representative Leatherwood, of Utah. The board visited the Pan-American union as the guests of Dr. L. S. Rowe, director of the union.

A. O. BLISS, JR., FINED $10 ON SPEED CHARGE

Alonzo O. Bliss, jr., of 1428 Sixteenth street northwest, was fined $10 in traffic court last night by Judge Isaac R. Hitt when he was arraigned and charged by Policeman F. J. Scoville with speeding at 32 miles an hour on Sixteenth street northwest.

Mrs. Catherine Poindexter, of 1207 Hamilton street northwest, was released on her personal bond when she explained that she was a former service woman and had gone into the veterans' bureau to procure medicine, leaving her car parked on I street, a restricted street, without knowing of the restrictions.

George A. Chadwick, 2116 Kalorama road northwest, was fined $20 for passing a street car. When the judge found he was only 16 years old he set aside the sentence and referred the case to the juvenile court.

CLERKS' RETIREMENT PLANS TOO MODEST FOR INTERIOR CHIEFS

Advocate Garber-Harreld Bill, Which Carries Top Annuity of $1,200 on $1,600 Pay.

EMPLOYES SUPPORTING LEHLBACH MEASURE

Carries $1,200 on $1,800 Salary, Which They Believe Congress Would Grant.

Advocacy by the Department of Interior officials for a more liberal plan of government employes' retirement than is being sought by the employes marked the joint committee hearings on the subject yesterday.

John S. Beach, chief of the retirement bureau of the Interior Department, among others of the department, spoke in favor of the Garber-Harreld bill as against the Lehlbach measure supported by the joint employes' committee on retirement. The Garber-Harreld measure would be using a different diviser than the Lehlbach-Stansfield measure, arrive at a maximum annuity of $1,200 on a $1,600 salary. The Lehlbach-Stansfield bill would reach a maximum annuity of $1,200 on an $1,800 annual salary. The present maximum retirement pay is $750.

Both measures provide for retirement at the end of 30 years' service but under the Lehlbach-Stansfield measure retirement would be optional while under the Garber-Harreld proposal retirement would be mandatory at the age of 62 years.

Robert H. Alcorn, chairman of the joint employes' committee; Edward J. Gainor, head of the National Postal Letter Carriers' association; M. T. Finnan, secretary, and Luther C. Steward, president of the Federation of Federal Employes, were among those appearing in behalf of the Lehlbach-Stansfield measure.

It is understood that the employees would gladly accept the Garber-Harreld bill, but they doubt its passage and therefore are concentrating on the Lehlbach-Stansfield proposal.

Interest among members of Congress toward liberalization of the retirement law was manifest throughout the hearing. Representatives Kelly, of Pennsylvania; Upshaw, of Georgia, and Dickstein of New York, were among those who addressed the committee on liberalizing the law.

"There are two ghosts that bother employes," said Mr. Dickstein, "unemployment and dependent old age."

In an effort to expedite passage of a liberalization measure the joint committee plans to meet daily until its hearings are concluded.

Legislation Urged For Married Women

Legislation should be enacted which would make valid the financial transactions of married women, Corcoran Thom, vice president of the American Security & Trust Co., told the Washington Real Estate board at its monthly meeting at the Wardman Park hotel last evening.

Mr. Thom discussed the local law governing the ability of married women to execute deeds of trust, notes, liens and other legal papers pertaining to real estate transactions. Representative Aswell, of Louisiana, told the members that they would be given a hearty welcome when they attended the midwinter meeting of the National Association of Real Estate Boards at New Orleans next week. Clarence F. Donohoe presided.

Man Says Divorced Wife Has Remarried

Paul Dutrow, who divorced his wife, Mrs. Sadie Dutrow, on September 16, asked the equity court yesterday to vacate an order adjudging him in contempt for alleged failure to pay alimony. Chief Justice McCoy ordered Dutrow committed for 30 days on the charge that he was $150 in arrears.

Dutrow now says that Mrs. Dutrow violated the District code by remarrying—a license having been issued to Lloyd W. Maddrey to marry her on December 4 in this city. She is not now in a position to complain about his failure to pay alimony, Dutrow declares. He has not yet been committed.

Mathematics Shown Factor in Chemistry

Describing the importance of mathematics in modern chemistry, L. H. Adams, retiring president of the Chemical Society of Washington, last night traced the history of that science since ancient times, in an address before that organization at the Cosmos club.

Mr. Adams said mathematics has played a constantly more influential part in chemistry as it developed through the centuries, while today its weight is preponderant. President F. W. Smither, recently elected head of the society, presided. About 140 persons were present.

MOUNTAIN-CLIMBER TO TALK

Ascent of Mount Logan Will Be Described by Canadian.

A recent mountain-climbing accomplishment, the scaling of Mount Logan, Canada, for the first time, will be the subject of an address before members of the National Geographic society this afternoon and evening at Masonic Temple auditorium. The obstacles overcome in the ascent last summer will be described and pictured by H. F. Lambart, of the Canadian geodetic survey, a leader of the expedition.

Mount Logan lies within a few miles of the east line of Alaska and is nearly 20,000 feet high. It is surpassed on the North American continent only by Mount McKinley, 400 miles to the northwest.

Is Doubting Thomas No Longer

"All medicines and doctors for stomach trouble proved worthless in my case. Everybody recommended something else and nothing helped, so I became a doubting Thomas as to any cure. While in St. Louis a party praised MAYR'S "ONE DOSE WILL CONVINCE" so highly that I bought a bottle and I am now a doubting Thomas no longer." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. Peoples Drug Stores, O'Donnell's Drug Stores and druggists everywhere.—Adv.

ANOTHER WASHINGTON COUPLE, BOTH SUFFERERS, QUICKLY REGAIN HEALTH. LIFE NOW WORTH LIVING

Mr. and Mrs. Philip Stiebeling, Long Residents of Washington, D. C., Declare They Built Good Red Blood With Todd's Tonic—Want Every Washingtonian to Know About Their Remarkable Recoveries.

Mr. Philip Stiebeling.

"I was in a general rundown condition. I felt the need of a building tonic. I had heard so much of Todd's Tonic that I decided to give it a trial and after taking several bottles there was a decided improvement in my condition. I intend to keep taking the tonic for sometime yet. My appetite is good; I rest well at night, and my digestion is splendid. Todd's Tonic has been a great aid to my present good health, and I recommend it to all I know who are in need of a wonderful building tonic." MR. PHILIP STIEBELING, 1522 8th St. N.W., Washington, D. C.

"I have been a sufferer from indigestion and gas on the stomach for the past two years to a degree where I could not do my housework without being all fagged out. My appetite was poor and I suffered occasionally with dizzy spells and nervousness. I had heard so much of Todd's Tonic and the wonders it had performed for others that I decided to give it a trial, and after taking six bottles of Todd's Tonic I am in every respect benefited. My appetite is splendid and my nerves are greatly benefited. The dizziness I suffered with is a thing of the past. My stomach and digestion are now in better condition than they have been for the past two years, and the praise all goes to that wonderful Todd's Tonic. I can truthfully say that it has done more for me than all of the rest of the so-called tonics I have ever taken. The first bottle that I took gave me wonderful results, but I could not expect very great results from any less than three to six bottles, and I think that all who suffer from stomach trouble and indigestion as I did should take Todd's Tonic, as it is truly a 'wonderful tonic.'"—MRS. PHILIP STIEBELING, 1522 8th St. N. W., Washington, D. C.

ARGUMENTS ENDED IN BATTLE OF HEIRS OVER LEE ESTATES

$1,000,000 PROPERTIES ARE INVOLVED IN SUIT

Descendants of Confederate Leader Seek Ruling on Will of His Son.

Arguments in the legal battle over division of the historic Lee estates in Virginia, which, with family heirlooms, have a value estimated at $1,000,000, were concluded yesterday before Judge Samuel G. Brent, sitting in the circuit court in Alexandria, Va.

The record of the case, Judge Brent announced at conclusion of the arguments, will be taken under advisement and he will hand down a decision later.

The fight over the division of the estates centers around the provisions of the will of Gen. W. H. Lee, son of Gen. Robert E. Lee, the Confederate civil war leader, and grew out of a dispute between Dr. George Bolling Lee, who has made his home in New York, and Mrs. Robert E. Lee, the widow of Col. Lee, who lives at 1733 Riggs place, Washington. Col. Lee was the son of Gen. W. H. Lee and a brother of Dr. Lee.

Gen. Lee's will provided that the family estate should go to his widow, Mrs. Mary Tabb Lee, to be divided equally between his sons after her death. Col. Lee, however, died in September, 1922, almost two years before the death of his mother in May, 1924. In his will, Col. Lee provided that his widow should have the use of his share of the estate during her life or until she remarried, when the property was to go to his brother, Dr. Lee.

Comprises Huge Estates.

The estate comprises Ravensworth, in Fairfax county, where Col. Lee died, on the broad acres of which there are five colonial mansions, and the White House in New Kent county; valuable business properties in Richmond and silverware, paintings and many heirlooms of the Lee family. The Richmond property yields $40,000 a year in rent.

White House, which was burned in the civil war, was the scene of the wedding of George Washington and Martha Custis, and the executive mansion here was named after it. This estate came into the Lee family through the wife of Gen. Robert E. Lee, who was a descendant of Martha Washington.

Portraits of George and Martha Washington, many of the furnishings which they used in their home, Mount Vernon, and other paintings and decorations are among the valuables.

After the death of Col. Lee his widow lived on the estates, but a dispute arose over distribution of the property and the court fight began. Mrs. Lee began action in Richmond, declaring that it would be impossible for her to win over Dr. Lee in Fairfax county. Dr. Lee, however, sought to force the case to trial in Fairfax and Judge Brent, who is trying the case now, ruled his court had authority to hear it. His decision was upheld by the State supreme court. The hearing was moved to Alexandria for convenience.

Barred From Property.

The contention of Dr. Lee is that under his father's will his brother had no estate to leave to his widow because of a provision that should either son die before their mother the entire estate was to go to the son remaining alive at the death of the mother. Dr. Lee insists that any division must be made on his terms.

Court orders have been obtained by Dr. Lee restraining her from using any of the property or even from entering either of the estates, Mrs. Lee declared. Before her marriage, Mrs. Lee was Miss Mary Middleton, a member of one of the oldest families of South Carolina and a direct descendant of Arthur Middleton, one of the signers of the Declaration of Independence.

Mrs. Lee is represented by James D. Johnston, of Roanoke, Va.; C. B. Northrop and John E. Laskey, former District attorney, of Washington. Dr. Lee is represented by the law firm of Barbour, Keith, McCandlish & Garnett, with offices in Washington and Fairfax courthouse.

Although not overly optimistic over the outcome of the present phase of her fight, Mrs. Lee has declared her determination to carry an appeal, if necessary, to the highest courts in an effort to win.

Town Baker Put in Jail; Women Make Own Bread

Special to The Washington Post.

Clarksburg, W. Va., Jan. 14. All the women of Webster Springs were obliged today to bake their own bread because Elsie Bennett, the only baker of the town, was a prisoner in the county jail, charged with contempt of court.

Bennett is an alleged klansman and Judge M. Jake Fisher, of circuit court, committed him to jail when he refused to answer questions by the judge as to the identity of persons taking part in certain klan activities there, including the explosion of dynamite and the burning of crosses on surrounding hills.

ITALY'S DEBT OFFER TO BRITAIN TOO LOW

London, Jan. 14 (By A. P.).—Negotiations for the payment of Italy's debt to Great Britain, amounting to £592,000,000 ($2,871,000,000) were opened today by Winston Churchill, chancellor of the exchequer, and Count Volpi, the Italian minister of finance.

The Italians presented to Mr. Churchill a tentative plan for repayment of their debt which is understood to be based on the terms on which the Italian debt to the United States was funded. As there is a wide difference between such terms and the demands of the British government it is expected that the negotiations will last throughout the next week.

Mr. Churchill will meet with the cabinet each day to consider the Italian proposals and possible concessions.

Speculation in London in regard to the Italian offer places the proposed annual payment at about £8,000,000.

Army Fliers Test Brakes for Planes

Dayton, Ohio, Jan. 14 (By A. P.).—First test of an airplane brake, designed to stop the ship wthin a short distance after landing, were made by army air pilots at McCook field here today. One of the advantages of brakes on a plane, which operates similar to brakes on an automobile, is that they will enable fliers to make emergency landings on small fields.

The plane must have lost nearly all of its flying speed, which settles the tail of the ship firmly on the ground, before the brake can be applied. When it is, the plane can be stopped quickly. If applied too soon, the plane will "nose over."

Tiny Phone Receiver Can Be Placed in Ear

Chicago, Jan. 14 (By A. P.).—A tiny telephone receiver, weighing only a half-ounce and fitting into the outer ear, an artificial larynx and an audiometer for measuring hearing were described today by Paul B. Findley, of the Bell Telephone Laboratories of New York, to members of the Electric club here.

For severe cases of deafness, the speaker explained, a two-stage vacuum tube amplifier is provided. A microphone picks up the speech. The artificial larynx, he said, was a device that would artificially produce and feed into the throat and mouth sounds which were molded into syllables and words.

2 Americans Executed in Canada.

Vancouver, B. C., Jan. 14 (By A. P.).—Owen B. Baker, of Tacoma, Wash., and Harry F. Sowash, of Seattle, were hanged today for killing William J. Gillis and William G. Gillis, father and son, in a hijacking raid September 15, 1924.

BERLIN OUT OF LEAGUE WHILE TROOPS REMAIN

75,000 in Rhineland Constitute Breach of Treaty, in Stresemann's View.

WARNING TO THE ALLIES

Berlin, Jan. 14 (By A. P.).—Gustav Stresemann, the foreign minister, declared before the foreign relations committee today that if the allies persisted in maintaining 75,000 troops in the Rhineland, Germany's application for admission to the League of Nations must be indefinitely postponed.

A semiofficial statement on this subject sets forth the attitude of the government as follows:

"Should the report of the retention of 75,000 troops prove correct, it would be quite apart from the Locarno negotiations and have the character of a breach of the treaty, because evacuation as provided for in article 429 of the Versailles treaty can only be understood as implying the withdrawal of the troops stationed in the territories concerned to the countries of their origin.

"At the time of the termination of the Ruhr conflict, namely, at the time when the largest number of troops was in the Rhineland, the garrison amounted to about 105,000, of which 35,000 were in the second and third zones. The 75,000 now suggested would therefore involve a considerable increase for the second and third zones. This increase would make the evacuation of the first zone to a great extent illusory, as it would be at the expense of the inhabitants of the two other zones.

"The increase would, furthermore, be incompatible with a fair interpretation of the Versailles treaty and in direct contradiction of the spirit of Locarno. It would be unthinkable that the government of the reich could acquiesce in such decision, which is diametrically opposed to the justifiable German expectations on a vital point.

"It is accordingly to be hoped that the court of final appeal will subject the figures mentioned to a thorough revision."

Tempest Is Raging On Mediterranean

Paris, Jan. 14 (By A. P.).—From Paris to the sunny Riviera, through the central part of France, the rivers are frozen; the Marseilles-Perpignon air postal service has been interrupted, storms forcing down the planes; in the Jura valleys the mercury has fallen as low as 22 below zero Fahrenheit, and a tempest rages in the Mediterranean.

France is undergoing another period of unusual weather, with reports of a train wreck and five deaths directly due to the cold at various points. The Mediterranean storm forced the hospital ship Circassie, transporting wounded from Morocco to Toulon, to change her course and seek shelter in a port on the Spanish coast. An Italian two-master was wrecked near Salins d'Hyeres, but the crew was saved.

Miss Fontaine Wins Fight on Removal

Chicago, Jan. 14 (By A. P.).—Evan Burrows Fontaine, dancer, today won her fight against removal to California on a citation for contempt of court in connection with her breach of promise suit against Cornelius Vanderbilt Whitney. Federal Judge Wilkerson rendered an opinion refusing her removal.

The dancer, after losing in one action against young Whitney, who since has married, was enjoined by the California courts from starting any legal action against the young man, subsequently filed a suit in the New York courts. As a result the contempt citation was issued in California.

Hungarian Count Accused of Arson

Prague, Czechoslovakia, Jan. 14 (By A. P.).—Count Emmerich Andrassy, a Hungarian nobleman, who has been living at Homonna, in eastern Czechoslovakia, is in Kaschau prison today, having been arrested last night on a charge of arson in connection with the burning of barns and warehouses in which Czech soldiers were quartered. It is understood, however, that this is only a technical charge and the arrest is really connected with the "30,000,000,000-franc" counterfeiting case in Hungary.

British Irak Mandate Is Extended 25 Years

Bagdad, Irak, Jan. 14 (By A. P.).—The new treaty between Great Britain and the Kingdom of Irak, by which the British mandate over this country is extended to a maximum of 25 years, was signed last night.

(This is in conformity with the recent decision of the League of Nations council in the Anglo-Turkish dispute over the territory of Mosul which lies in the northern part of Irak. Turkey has refused to recognize the council's decision which confirmed as permanent the temporary boundary of Mosul as laid down at the Brussels conference.)

Berlin and His Bride May Sail Right Back

Southampton, England, Jan. 14 (By A. P.).—Rumors as to whether Irving Berlin and his bride will land here or at Cherbourg from the liner Leviathan are flying back and forth across the channel. The Berlins are keeping their plans secret.

There is one rumor that the song writer and his bride may decide not to leave the liner at all, but stay aboard for her return voyage.

Aboard the S. S. Leviathan at Sea, Jan. 14 (By wireless to the Associated Press.).—Irving Berlin and his bride, the former Ellin Mackay, are enjoying every minute of their honeymoon voyage to Europe and are supremely happy, they declared in a statement today, the first they have issued for publication since the Leviathan left New York.

Ponzi's Land Agent Arrested in Boston

Boston, Jan. 14 (By A. P.).—A warrant for the arrest of Calcedonio Alviti, Boston representative of Charles Ponzi, former get-rich-quick financier now engaged in a Florida real estate enterprise, was issued by Judge Creed in municipal court today. It charges violation of the blue sky law. Alviti was arrested.

Application was made for a warrant as a result of an investigation by Attorney General Jay R. Benton, into the activities of the Charpon Land Syndicate, the Ponzi real estate project, a branch of which recently was opened in this city, the home of Ponzi's adventures as a financial wizard.

Mrs. Stillman Wins Delay in Guide's Suit

Three Rivers, Quebec, Jan. 14 (By A. P.).—A motion to postpone the case of Fred Beauvais against Mrs. Anne Potter Stillman, was granted in superior court today by Justice Duplessis.

Beauvais, an Indian guide who was cited in Mr. Stillman's unsuccessful divorce suit, is seeking $7,000 for alleged services in connection with the collection of evidence to rebut the claims. Defense counsel argued as one reason for postponement that negotiations were under way for a settlement of the case. Counsel for Beauvais objected to postponement.

New Luther Cabinet Ready by Saturday

Berlin, Jan. 14 (By A. P.).—Dr. Hans Luther, called upon by President von Hindenburg to organize a new government, expects to have his cabinet constituted by Saturday.

Both Dr. Luther and Gustav Stresemann are firm in their demands that the reichstag parties, which identify themselves with the new government, shall designate only such representatives for cabinet members as possess complete authority and the backing of their respective parties.

Dr. Gessler is reported to be unwilling to accept the portfolio of minister of defense.

Here's a Real Prescription For The Torturing Pains of Neuritis

When you've tried everything you can think of and nothing seems to even relieve those piercing, agonizing pains, just go to some good druggist and get a bottle of Allenrhu Special Formula No. 2. Be sure you get No. 2 which comes in capsule form, for the liquid form is a special preparation for Rheumatism only.

Take these little dark green capsules as directed and notice how in about 24 hours they have considerably reduced, if not entirely banished, those persistent nerve racking pains that have caused you many sleepless nights. A few more doses and the pains have left you forever.

While this particular formula was compounded for the purpose of conquering painful, gouty conditions and what is known as Rheumatoid Arthritis—a knotty, painful swelling of the joints—it has proven wonderfully successful in all forms of Neuritis and Sciatic Nerve Pains.

You needn't be afraid of its containing dope of any kind—it doesn't. Such things are only makeshifts and can only at the best give temporary relief.

ZIHLMAN SEES DANGER IN PENSION BILL PHRASE

TAKES ISSUE WITH LORD

Chairman Zihlman, of the House District committee, yesterday took issue with Budget Director Lord over language employed in District bills carrying appropriations.

Under the language insisted upon by the director in the proposed mothers' pensions legislation, Representative Zihlman points out, it is assumed that the lump-sum principle of District-Federal government fiscal relations is to be the final order. Should Congress in the future return to the proportionate plan, Mr. Zihlman says, the mothers' pensions fund would have to be borne entirely by the District.

It would work this way, Mr. Zihlman explained: Should Congress return to the 60-40 ratio, for instance, and that ratio is now the substantive law on the subject, the District would have to keep its pensions' fund separate and Congress would contribute 40 per cent only to remaining District expenditures.

Writing Gen. Lord, Mr. Zihlman said that a provision that the appropriation be accounted for "in like manner as are other appropriations for the expenses of the government of the District of Columbia" would suffice.

Under existing fiscal relations, of course, the wording in the bill makes no difference, Mr. Zihlman said, but there is no reason why the measure should read that the pensions' fund "be payable from the revenues of the District of Columbia."

First Drive Planned For Sibley Hospital

A campaign for raising $325,000 to provide additional buildings in accordance with a general plan of enlargement will be started by Sibley hospital March 5, to continue to March 10, it was announced yesterday by the board of directors of the hospital.

The hospital has never called on the public for assistance since its inception 32 years ago, it is said. Recently a fund of $250,000 was bequeathed to the hospital. This is being used as the nucleus for the erection of new buildings, which will require $325,000 additional to complete. Andrew H. Phelps will be chairman of the executive committee. G. W. Williams will be in charge of the campaign.

ELDRIDGE FAVORS BLANTON MEASURE

Reports to City Heads, Who Discuss Traffic Bill; Hesse Said to Oppose It.

Representative Thomas L. Blanton's bill to increase the salary and authority of the director of traffic was discussed yesterday by the District board of commissioners.

No decision was reached on it. The commissioners have received a report from M. O. Eldridge, director of traffic, favoring the important provisions of the measure. They are now waiting for reports from Maj. Edwin B. Hesse, superintendent of police, and Corporation Counsel Francis H. Stephens.

Maj. Hesse is said to look with disfavor on the chief feature of the proposed legislation, which would give Director Eldridge authority over the police traffic bureau. The commissioners are said to be skeptical concerning this proposal which, they say, will divide police authority.

Campaign to Be Discussed.

Plans for the next congressional campaign will be discussed at a joint meeting Tuesday night of the League of Republican State Clubs and the Coolidge and Dawes club in the rose room of the Washington hotel.

Treat Colds 2 Ways

With ONE Treatment

WHEN rubbed over throat and chest for all kinds of cold troubles Vicks VapoRub does two things at once:

(1) Its ingredients are vaporized by the body heat and inhaled direct to the inflamed air passages, loosening the phlegm and easing the difficult breathing, and

(2) At the same time it warms and stimulates the skin like an old-fashioned poultice, "drawing out" the soreness and pain and thus aiding the vapors inhaled to break up the congestion.

MODISH MITZI — Mitzi Helps Dotty Buy Clothes — By Jay V. Jay

Dotty is Mitzi's 16-year-old cousin and it's a question whether Dotty or Mitzi enjoys more buying of Dotty's clothes. As they start out for a heavenly day in the shops you can notice that Dotty wears a coat with one of the short shoulder capes that are so becoming to young women of 16.

Just the dress Dotty wants for school (Dotty goes to boarding school). It's of navy blue twill cut as though it had an Eton jacket and with facings of satin for the cuffs and collar. Spare a minute, too, to admire Mitzi's patchwork hat of colored bits of felt sewed on a black felt frame.

There's a hat for Dotty, too. It's of felt and matches the dress, which makes rather a sombre costume—but not if it is lightened by a brilliantly dyed scarf that is short and mannish and knots severely under Dotty's chin or ties at her throat. Mitzi agrees to all these with approval.

Chief event of the day—the buying of a party dress for dances. It's made of chiffon in the delicate shade called rosewood and nothing smarter than its jabot, bow and pleated skirt has been devised for several seasons. Dotty is prepared to go back to school on Monday, the envy of all her friends.

Says—

The Business Woman—

". . . Ever since I've worn this dress, I've felt like writing to that author of 'The Woman in Business' and suggesting a chapter exclusively on Glen Bogie!"

"Well, to begin with, I've just defied the radiator situation at the office, and can start on the dot. Which means no staying after six for me! Then, there's this—I can go out several evenings a week without giving the 'what-to-wear-next-day situation' a thought. 'Bogie's' as good as new every day. And 'most everyone says it looks better on me than anything I own. . . !"

Glen Bogie

The Frock of a Hundred Joys!

She has discovered like women of many other occupations that it is a dress that looks well, is delightfully comfortable.

It is the choice of women and young women whose wardrobe is limited as well as those who may have dresses without number. Of finest Australian zephyr yarn, it is knitted so that it will not sag or stretch or cling. It gives slender grace to every figure. It may be had in many lovely shades.

WIVES OF TOMORROW

By FRANCES M'DONALD

The Right Idea.

DEAR Miss McDonald: I do not expect to get married yet, but I do in a few years, and I believe if I get straightened out now it will help me then very much. I want to be a good wife to this boy, but I know if I keep up doing what I am doing, that our marriage will be a great disappointment. My troubles are, as people tell me and as I myself know, "Lack of will power," and "acting on impulse." This mosty concerns me in money matters. If I want something, I get it, knowing very well that on my allowance I won't have enough for the end of the week. But this is put aside with an "Oh, I'll manage when the time comes." I guess I am also a so-called "easy going" type. Now, after I spend the money I get very angry at myself, but never until it is too late. Can you help me, Miss McDonald? You know what this will mean in married life, especially as my husband will not be rich. I am only past 16 and I believe I may yet learn. I receive an allowance of $5 per week, is this sufficient? I do not have to buy clothing or anything with it, just for dances, shows, and a few little things I want. Thank you, and much luck to your wonderful column.

JOHNNIE.

If only every girl would begin at 16 to train for wifehood, what a nation we would become. Well, Johnnie, you at least of the millions of girls today have the right idea. Marriage is just what the wife makes it. Of course no wife whose marriage has failed will agree with that statement. But even those who deny it publicly, believe it privately. And now for the business in hand.

You are 16, have an allowance of $5 a week and you ask is it sufficient! I know a wife who runs her table on just that. Don't ask me how—but she does. And you have that much for movies at 16. Now what if you ever did have to feed a husband, a large hungry husband on that amount? You ask is it sufficient. Would you believe, Johnnie, that is all I had for allowance each month the two years I taught school! And for me it was enough. And out of it I took allowances for mother's birthday and little surprises for her and for my baby sister.

But I learned, as you are going to learn, that I had to do without a lot of unnecessary things. Very often—Oh, very often I circled a counter in a department store and just prayed for strength to get out of that store before I squandered half a month's spending on a pair of gloves I did not need but which were just too darling. And I want to state that I didn't always get out with colors flying. I'll never forget a certain flowing veil. At that particular moment one felt undressed without a veil. Mother had purchased several for my cute little hats.

Then I saw this one. I marched around it. Mother's birthday was ten days off. I couldn't get the veil, her present and the crayon set I had almost promised Babe. I marched around some more. I could get the present and let the crayons wait till next month. I bought the veil. I really began hating it as the clerk took my money. But when dear little Babe came down with mumps and I hadn't a cent for the crayons that would have meant such joy to her I knew just how hateful that veil and myself and a weak will really were. I made one of the other teachers buy it for half what I paid, and I got the crayons. Babe about died of joy instead of mumps, and I never really had a hard fight over deciding a question afterward. Always I just said to myself, "still weak?" And somehow that always got me safely to the street—and out of temptation. And do you know now, Johnnie, my friends are always marveling how little it worries me to do without a trip, or a rug, or some other thing that I feel must wait. You are in for a terrible time, if you don't win out before you marry, and you're in for the most glorious sensation you ever knew—if you do win out. Will you try my tried and tested stunt of just saying to yourself, "Still weak?" It will astonish you how your will resents that question and acts.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. W. A. EVANS

HIDDEN DANGERS IN MILK.

ALTHOUGH the people in cities now drinking pasteurized milk and are therefore protected against milk borne tuberculosis, those who live in the country, in villages, towns and smaller cities are still in danger of this particular kind of infection.

The best protection which they can get is tuberculin testing of the cows, but unfortunately the dairy farmers in many sections oppose that procedure. I presume one way in which these resisting dairymen salve their consciences for feeding tuberculosis to their own children and the children of their friends in town is by thinking that milk borne tuberculosis does not affect any part of the body except the bones and joints and glands, and that human bone, joint and gland tuberculosis is not very important.

If they are of that opinion they will be made unhappy if they will read the opinion of Dr. A. H. Freiberg, of Cincinnati. Dr. Freiberg says that 400 years before the birth of Christ Hippocrates wrote "the hunchback was due to tubercle within and without the lungs." For more than 2,000 years it has been known that "the end of many a patient with tuberculous bone and joint disease, who seemed at first to be relieved by purely local treatment, was determined by the development of pulmonary consumption."

A tubercular abscess in a bone or in a joint is apt to result in tuberculosis elsewhere in the body. In fact, Dr. Freiberg says the probability is that other areas in the body are already infected at the time the bone or joint tuberculosis is acting up. When a physician finds an obvious disease in some joint or bone he is apt to stop his search. Were he to continue his examination until all the organs had been explored, he would probably find tuberculosis in more than one place in the body.

Based on his opinion that bone tuberculosis is usually only one part of the picture, Dr. Freiberg does not limit his treatments to the obvious bone trouble. He has his patients carry out the rest-open air-feeding treatment that is given consumptives. Heliotherapy, that is, the use of sunlight and other lights, is carried out. He says: "Heliotherapy will bring most cases of surgical tuberculosis to an end. The combination of heliotherapy with proper methods of local, mechanical control represents the best of our day in the treatment of surgical tuberculosis."

DANGERS IN CLEANERS.

L. F. objects to the letter recently printed in which a correspondent advised that gasoline be used to get bedbugs out of a woman's hat. He writes that gasoline is explosive and its use for that purpose is dangerous. There are nonexplosive bedbug killers available.

He also objects to the use of gasoline for cleaning clothing. Other cheap, nonexplosive, effective cleaning agents are available.

CAUSE OF ANEMIA.

W. P. writes: 1. Can constipation cause anemia?

2. I am rather anemic. How can I enrich my blood?

REPLY.

1. Yes. In fact, constipation is largely responsible for chlorosis, a form of anemia.

2. If you have a simple anemia, eat green vegetables and juicy meats. Overcome constipation by eating freely of brans, whole grain breads and bulky vegetables and fruits.

CYST ON TONGUE.

Mrs. L. C. F. writes: Have had a small pimple under my tongue for the past four months. It gradually gets to look like a small water blister and then gradually disappears almost entirely, when it starts all over again. Is it serious, and ought I see a doctor?

REPLY.

It is not serious. You have a retention cyst of the sublingual gland. Probing may cure it. A minor operation may be advisable.

JUST FOLKS

THOSE FANCY TOWELS.

Long years ago ere we were wed,
Some lovely towels embroider-ed
Were fashioned by her friends;
Some lovely towels of pink and blue,
Pale lavender and orchid, too,
Initials marvelously done
Added a charm to every one.

Since then for twenty years I've seen
Those lovely towels, pink and green,
In place upon the rack.
I've thought at times I'd like to try
My hands with one of them to dry,
But always put it back.
And so they've stayed for all to see,
Reserved for special company.

I'd say ten thousand times or more
I've stooped to pick them from the floor
When they have slithered down.
But none who's ever come to lave
Or rich or famous, saint or knave
Or friends from out of town
Has ever felt the soft embrace
Of those gay linens on his face.

The letters have been mangled thin,
But never hand nor cheek nor chin
The colors now have faded pale,
But still upon that little rail
Those towels get special care.
Those lovely towels of gorgeous hues,

UNCLE RAY'S CORNER

Feasts of the Romans

BEFORE I begin to tell you of the feasts of the Romans, I wish it to be clear that I am speaking about the rich Romans. The working class, the people who did the hard work of building and tilling the soil, seldom feasted, and when they did feast, their meals were not like those I shall describe.

Many rich Romans did little except gad about and talk with friends, watch the circus or a fight in the arena, drowse in the gorgeous bath palaces, eat, drink and sleep. The face of one of the emperors, Vitellius, is a good example of what that sort of life led to. He was not such a bad fellow, but he was lazy and enjoyed nothing more than to feast and sleep.

While dining, it was the custom for grown-ups to use couches instead of chairs, and to lean on an elbow (half lying-down) while they ate the good things which servants brought to them. When I say "good things," I am thinking of the viewpoint of the Romans. Some of the things they ate—snails for instance—would not tickle our taste.

Many a record has come down to us of feasts given by emperors, nobles and rich men. Such affairs began early in the evening, not much after sundown, and often lasted until past midnight. Served in the midst of silver and gold furnishings, with perfumes in the air, these feasts gave the gluttons the joy of their lives.

At one feast, we are told that 7,000 birds made up part of the menu. The tongues of flamingos and the brains of peacocks were other "dainties" served to the greedy feasters. The food courses sometimes numbered 20 or more, and the eating was likely to take three or four hours.

Besides the food, there was a broad supply of wine. It was commonly mixed with water, and therefore did not deaden the brain so quickly. Yet the feasters drank so much that there was very likely to come a time when servants needed to be called to take the guest home.

There were times when Romans attended several short feasts instead of one long, heavy one. In groups, they would stagger and stumble through the streets, going from one house to another.

All this while there were people in Rome who were hungry for a crust of bread. The "free food" which the government gave out now and then was eagerly sought by the lowly and the wretched.

Q. Will you please tell me how old the Egyptian people live to be? Roy Vineyard, age 12.

A. I think that you may have misunderstood my talking about "the old Egyptians." I have not meant that they grew to a very great age, but rather that they lived in olden times. I have no figures as to the average length of life in Egypt, and doubt that such figures exist. I am sure, however, that the average age of life in modern Egypt is less than that in the United States or Canada. Egypt is not an entirely healthful place in which to live, but it is a mighty interest-place to visit.

Charleston Crazy

By N. BREWSTER MORSE.

If Charleston, N. C., or Charleston, S. C., or Charleston, any other place that Charleston may happen to be, is responsible for it all, then we certainly are going to hold it against Charleston!

It's a very silly sort of dance to begin with. Who can maintain that there is any charm of grace about it? No one can! Who can think of the least excuse why everyone should be trying to do it? No one can! Who can resist the desire to grin broadly when anyone else is doing it or the great temptation to try to do it himself at the first possible opportunity? No one can!

The professor knew all this and these are the very facts that most appealed to him. You see, he was a professor of advanced psychology and had even written textbooks on this subject. To you and me, the fact that people are Charleston crazy is sufficient in itself. Not so to the professor.

Peculiar as it may seem, insanity was one of the professor's special subjects. He knew more about the various kinds of insanities and the why and wherefor of them than modern chorus girls do about big Butter-and-Egg Men from the West. Of course, then, there was nothing else for him to do but go in for the Charleston, which is, in short, exactly what he did.

In order to study the subject carefully he had to find someone that knew all about it. This someone happened to be named Mary Lee and the reason she knew all about it was because through it she earned her daily bread and even some butter and milk to eat with it in the bargain.

Mary Lee sang those crying "Blue Songs" in a big Broadway musical revue. She sang them as only Mary Lee could sing them. "I've Got Those Charleston Crazy Blues," as rendered by Mary, used to bring the house down, as they say in the show business, every evening. And then, as encore, when she did it (the Charleston we mean, of course), she simply stopped the show. She'd have to do it over and over again, until at times, the management used to wish that they hadn't spent so much money in getting scenery and costumes and other people into the show. All that they really needed was a back drop, the orchestra, Mary Lee and the Charleston.

When the professor met Mary, he immediately looked upon her as Exhibit "A." We really couldn't tell you the way that Mary Lee looked upon the professor. Suffice it to say that they met and the professor's investigation was on.

After the first few evenings that they spent together, the professor began to take a great interest in Mary aside from the individual light which she was able to throw upon a craze which he was bent upon understanding. The thing that he liked the most was her utter lack of all pretense. She spoke whatever came into her mind and discussed quite openly and sanely things that the professor had always thought undiscussable between persons of the opposite sexes. Mary Lee was, as he soon discovered, much more interesting to him as a study than was the famous dance of which she was one of the most celebrated exponents.

Of course, you've already guessed it. In a very little while Mary became as much interested in the professor as he was in her. She found that he had such a vast store of knowledge about things that she had always wanted to know about and never had the time to look into, and that he was so willing to explain these things and could explain them in a manner which made them so clear to her, that her evenings spent in his company were the most interesting and pleasant evenings of the week.

Now, it comes to us that people just naturally always picture a professor as an old man with long, white whiskers and tortoise-shell glasses. We should have stated in the beginning that this particular professor was only 32, not in the least near-sighted, and went to his barber every morning. This revelation will let you in on the fact that when the professor and Mary Lee found out that they got along so well together and interested each other so much, they consulted a minister about it, who kindly tied the knot of holy matrimony and did his best to make them one.

"And, my dear," said Mrs. Whibley-Whibley to Mrs. J. Jackson Wharton, "I saw Prof. Simpson, the eminent psychologist, the other evening, and what do you think he was doing? He was in one of those night clubs and I give my word of honor that he had a very pretty young bobbed-hair girl there trying to do the Charleston!"

WALL STREET GOSSIP

New York, Jan. 14 (By A. P.).—Negotiations are approaching completion, it was learned in Wall street today, for a loan of $100,000,000 to Poland to be secured by a tobacco monopoly in that country. Representatives of the American Tobacco Co., Kuhn, Loeb & Co., Bankers' Trust Co. and Chase Securities Co. have arrived in Warsaw where the conferences are being held.

Earnings of the Western Union Telegraph Co. for 1925, with December estimated, show substantial improvement over 1924, the official report placing net income at $15,170,089, a gain of $2,833,407. Gross revenues climbed to $129,260,358 compared with $115,235,563 in 1924. Total expenses increased to $110,753,748 from $99,581,556 the year before. The company recently increased the annual dividend rate from $7 to $8 a share.

Retirement of $1,900,000 outstanding notes of William F. Mosser Co., due in 1930, is planned by Armour & Co. The notes were assumed by the North American Provision Co., subsidiary of Armour & Co., of Delaware, and its directors will vote tomorrow to call the notes at 104 on April 1.

Two seats on the New York Stock Exchange changed hands today, the membership of Henry K. Pomeroy going to Harold Tobey for $145,000 and that of Edmund A. Lynch to Mortimer S. Allmayer for $140,000. Both new members are New Yorkers. The prevous transaction was at $140,000.

An initial quarterly dividend of $1.75 a share has been declared on the class A preferred stock of Eastern States Power, payable February 1 to holders of record January 15.

Notification of an increase in capital from $30,000,000 to $100,000,000 has been filed by the Barnsdall Corporation in Delaware. New capital will consist of $100,000,000 shares class A voting stock, $25 par, and $3,000,000 shares of class B nonvoting stock, $25 par.

"Something of a slowing down of business is inevitable during the next two months," says the business bulletin of the Cleveland Trust Company edited by Leonard P. Ayers, vice-president of the bank. "The crops have been marketed. The holiday trade is behind us. Building construction is no longer so highly seasonal an industry as it used to be, but it still is true that there is much less building going on during the winter than in the other seasons of the year. A similar situation exists in the automobile industry. In all the northern part of the country, highway construction and repair are suspended and railroad traffic is much reduced during the cold season. Lake traffic is of a necessity at a standstill and coastwise shipping is carried on under difficulties and in reduced volume. Tourist travel by land and by sea is relatively small."

Stockholders of the Commercial Credit Co., of Baltimore today authorized a new issue of 120,000 shares of 6½ per cent first preferred stock, $100 par, and an increase in common stock from 480,000 to 850,000 shares, no par value. The first preferred will be on a parity as to assets and payments of dividends with the $4,000,000 seven per cent preferred stock outstanding. Public offering of $8,000,000 of the new preferred will be made next week by a group consisting of Robert Garrett & Sons, Baltimore; Spencer Trask & Co., Marshall Field, Glore Ward & Co. and Dominick & Dominick.

"It does not matter to me whether you are disabled with cursed rheumatism or have only occasional twinges," says James H. Allen, of 26 Forbes St., Rochester, N. Y. "I know that Allenrhu, my own discovery, will stop the agony, do away with the gnawing pains and reduce the swollen joints."

"I know it will dissolve the uric acid deposits that have become deeply imbedded in joints and muscles and quickly drive every trace of rheumatism from your body. I know this because I was crippled for years and many times was unable to work, and Allenrhu made a well, robust, healthy man of me.

Allenrhu is no laggard; it starts right in at once; it gets into the blood, searches out the poisonous uric acid deposits and in two days starts to drive the concentrated impurities that cause rheumatism, out of the body through the natural channels.

"The blessed relief this marvelous prescription quickly gives has made for it thousands of friends," says Peoples Drug Stores, who have been appointed agent in your city. It is Mr. Allen's own discovery. If you live out of town ask him to send you full particulars.—Adv.

By S. S. FONTAINE.

New York, Jan. 14.—Just at the psychological moment, when the market was unable to show any visible means of support, along came a lot of scale orders said to have emanated from the houses on the corners, and gave it a helping hand, though it really showed little disposition to help itself, and its actions as a whole were not inspiring. But, according to past performances, that's when it is the best buy.

* * * * *

"It's strongest when it's weakest," said the man who has a penchant for paradox.

But that seems to be the most intelligent summary of the present market's character that has been heard in the street. It is to a certain extent a market of mysteries. When, according to the charts, it is due to crack wide open, some company comes along and splits up its stock with a largesse to boot. And the gossip is that one of the greatest corporations in the country—and, by the way, it is not the General Electric—is going to do something shortly to electrify the investment world. And thus wagged the gossip's tongue today:

"It may not be a melon, but it is going to be a fat extra dividend. The story is that the directors have got the hint from Washington that they have got too many concealed assets. They've got to distribute more of them to their stockholders, unless they want to get Congress after them; and they have decided to adopt the suggestion. In the meantime if you watch how a certain stock acts—it always acts that way when it's under accumulation—perhaps you can guess its name."

Recalling your algebra, gentle reader, can you solve this simple equation, or must it remain an unknown quantity?

* * * * *

The Pan-American pool is playing in hard luck. Not long ago the corporation, which is now under the protecting wing of Standard Oil of Indiana, brought in a sensational well in Mexico, and its geologists completed a survey which disclosed a 50-year-old oil supply in the Tobasco republic. Whereupon the Federal court of appeals brought in its Pearl Harbor decision. And the pool got all it thought was coming to it.

When it looked as if the precipitation was over, along came the Mexican mix-up and there was another downpour. And the pool rose to the occasion—till it was brimful.

"I guess we got the last share afloat," said the pool manager with a sigh.

"Mexican government has ruled that the tax laws against which the United States is protesting would not be retroactive. Pan American acquired its Mexican properties prior to May 1, 1917, from which date the laws are to be effective." And the shorts took a particular fancy to Pan B, and it was moving a stride or two ahead of them when the ticker flashed:

And again the stock slipped a peg while the pool opened its bag again and the company sent out this:

"The claim upon which this suit is based, so the company is advised by its counsel, is wholly without merit.

"The lands in question are lands which have been occupied under an oil lease, without interruption, by a subsidiary of the Pan American Petroleum and Transport Co., and its predecessors, from which it acquired the lease in question, for nearly 25 years. The validity of this lease has been repeatedly ratified by the owners of the land, and the lessees claim that all its terms and conditions have been fully complied with.

* * * * *

"The plaintiffs in this case brought a suit several years ago in the courts of Mexico based upon the same claim, but the complaint was dismissed by the Mexican courts. For some time past it has been the announced intention of these same parties to bring a suit in the New York courts in the event the company did not make a settlement.

* * * * *

"The Pan American Petroleum Co. has now been served with a summons, without a complaint, and suit instituted in reference to this matter by Merinos Viescay Compania, Inc. The grounds for the suit are not stated in the summons nor is any amount named. The suit is brought in the New York supreme court, Richmond county, and, in the opinion of the company, constitutes an attempt to try in the courts of the State of New York a claim which has already been unsuccessfully urged in the courts of Mexico."

* * * * *

"Well, anyhow," said the pool manager, "it looks to me as if the stock is sold to a standstill unless Popocatepetl starts a new eruption."

* * * * *

"One of the big indemnity companies of New York has sent out notices of cancellation to all its holders of burglar protection policies in the Metropolitan district, effective January 17," said the insurance man.

"Why?" said the innocent bystander.

"That includes bail bonds?"

"In other words," said the cynic, "the company has found that the one best bet is the burglar."

"So says the Sullivan law," said the cynic.

STOCK LIST GENERALLY REACTS AFTER RALLY

CALL FUNDS 4½ PER CENT

Special to The Washington Post.

New York, Jan. 14.—Movements of stocks on the New York Stock Exchange today were mixed throughout a session of moderate activity, in which the turnover barely exceeded 1,500,000 shares. After a forenoon of irregularity, a rally in the afternoon faded under a renewal of selling pressure and many active issues closed at the low levels of the day, 1 to 4½ points net lower.

The market was not without strong spots, however, a number of stocks being taken in hand and bid up for gains which ranged up to 5 points, notably some of the insurance shares.

The question whether the recent dullness in the market portended a fresh reaction or was to be followed by a rise was thought in some quarters to have been answered in mid-afternoon when prices broke out of the trading area in which they had been moving and began to forge ahead under the lead of the motor and public utility shares.

The automobile stocks, whose heaviness during the week of the first of the national automobile shows had been disappointing to traders committed to the constructive side, suddenly rebounded from 2 to 4 points under a new and aggressive buying movement, but it was not sustained and most of them slipped back before the close and finished slightly net lower. Hudson Motors was an exception, closing 1⅞ net higher, but at that level it was nearly 3 points under the day's summit. Dodge Brothers closed a small fraction net higher.

The utilities had displayed a firm undertone in the morning and when they developed increased upward momentum, the rally met with sympathetic response in other groups and practically the whole market improved, temporarily. The uncertainties of the speculative situation were illustrated in the closing moments, however, when prices slipped off again and in some instances went into new low ground for the day. It was clear then that the spasmodic rally had been due to a drive on shorts rather than to any real buying.

The rally in the utilities group was headed by a number of stocks which speculators for the rise had selected as cheap by reason of dividend expectations. Among those bid up were Laclede Gas, which held a 4 point gain; Public Service of New York, Philadelphia Company, Consolidated Gas and Montana Power.

Investment stocks like Continental Insurance, Fidelity Phoenix Insurance and Western Union were higher and held substantial gains to the close. Specialties, such as Pullman, Railway Steel Springs, U. S. Realty, American Brake Shoe and American Can, also gained, but reacted anew in most instances. Can, for example, closing 4½ net lower. American Agricultural Chemical preferred was bid up sharply on dividend expectations.

On the other hand, some other specialties were under pressure, among them Foundation Co., United States Cast Iron Pipe and Remington Typewriter. Sloss Sheffield Steel lost 3½ and United States Steel common, 1⅛. Rails were irregular. There was demand for Missouri, Kansas & Texas preferred and common, but Atchison, New York Central and other recent leaders made no headway.

Call money opened and renewed at 4½ per cent, unchanged from yesterday. Demand funds again were available outside the stock exchange at 4 per cent.

Foreign exchange was featured by a further fractional rise in sterling, but French francs yielded nearly 5 points. Norwegian and Danish kroner gained 3 points.

FURTHER IMPROVEMENT SHOWN BY BOND PRICES

RAILS IN GOOD DEMAND

New York, Jan. 14 (By A. P.).—Bond prices registered further improvement in today's moderately active trading, which was overshadowed in interest by heavy oversubscription of several important bond issues. The investment demand, nevertheless was sufficient to absorb many listed obligations in addition to all the new financing.

Renewed accumulation of Mexican government securities followed the formal announcement that a fresh start had been made toward carrying out the Mexican debt agreement in its modified form. With distributions of interest to the bondholders in prospect within the next six months, all the assented issues listed on the New York Stock Exchange were in demand, scoring gains of 1 to more than 2 points. Some of the French bonds also were firmer on indications that another effort would be made soon to settle the debt to the United States.

Strength of public utility stocks created a wider interest in the bonds of these companies, although price movements in this group lacked uniformity. In the local transit field, buying of Third Avenue Railway issues contrasted with selling of Interborough issues. Utah Power 5s and North American Edison 6s were other strong features.

The demand for railroad liens embraced Atlantic Coast Line 4½s, Peoria & Eastern income 4s, Great Northern 5s, Lehigh Valley 5s, International Great Northern adjustment 6s and Seaboard refunding 4s. Chesapeake & Ohio and Delaware & Hudson convertible issues were heavy.

The day's new bond offerings, including $15,000,000 Goodrich Co. notes, together with a $20,000,000 stock issue for the Crown Willamette Paper Co., were largely oversubscribed. New loans in prospect embrace $25,000,000 for the "Big Three" steel combine of Germany, $30,000,000 or so as an initial offering in connection with the Polish tobacco monopoly and about $22,000,000 for the Western United Gas and Electric Corporation.

CURB MARKET REVIEW.

New York, Jan. 14 (By A. P.).—Divergence of speculative opinion as to the future course of stock prices was illustrated by the confused movements in today's curb market. Chief speculative interest again centered in the public utilities, several of which attained record high prices on unconfirmed rumors of mergers, special dividend distributions and stock splitups.

United Gas and Improvement was one of the outstanding features, soaring over six points to a new top at 134⅝ and then sagging to 132⅛, on total transactions of about 45,000 shares. American Gas and Electric, American Light and Traction, American Power and Light and Midwest Utilities closed 2 to 4 points higher. A few issues, such as Consolidated Gas of Baltimore, United Gas and Electric and United Light and Power fell back a point or two on profit taking.

Electric Refrigeration issues held firm. Rubber shares developed increased activity in reflection of the widespread interest being taken in measures to foster American production of the crude product. Gov. Pinchot's proposal to regulate the anthracite industry brought fresh selling into the coal shares, Glen Alden showing a net loss of 3½ points. "Nickel Plate" (new stock) advanced over 2 points.

Oils failed to maintain their early gains although American Maracaibo crossed 14 and Gibson sold above 6, both at new high records. Standard Oil of Kentucky and Humble each sagged over a point, but most of the other active issues showed only fractional changes.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

Chicago, Jan. 14 (By A. P.).—Broad buying power became evident in the wheat market today, with big speculators taking an active part helping to advance prices. Improved export demand together with higher premiums at St. Louis, Ohaha and Kansas City for immediate delivery of wheat was a bullish factor. Chicago closing quotations on wheat were firm at about the day's top figures, 1⅞ to 3c net higher, new style, May, 1.76½ to 1.76¾ and July, 1.52⅝ to 1.52⅞, with corn ⅜ to ⅝ off; oats varying from ¼c decline to ⅛c gain and provisions 12 to 25c up.

Estimates of today's purchases of wheat for shipment to Europe made the total 600,000 bushels, and in this connection some significance was attached to the fact that No. 2 Northern wheat in store here commanded exactly the same price as May delivery. Investors were further encouraged by indications of a better call for flour. Previous to these developments, the market here received an upward impetus from higher quotations at Liverpool and from announcement that Poland is to impose an export duty on wheat.

Inasmuch as Poland has of late been the largest source of wheat supplies for other continental European countries, the prospect of an export duty on wheat shipments out of Poland attracted considerable notice. With stormy weather in Argentina predicted, buying continued to outclass selling, and before business was ended, May wheat showed a jump of nearly 5c a bushel from yesterday's lowest figures. Argentine wheat exports for the week were only 629,000 bushels as against 4,199,000 bushels a year ago.

RICKARD SNUBS 2 CHAMPIONS IN HIS ANNUAL RATING

George Washington Gives Visitors Hard Fight.

By FRANK H. YOUNG.

GEORGE WASHINGTON'S band box gymnasium was filled to capacity last night to see the Hatchetite basketers strut their stuff before the husky Lafayette team. The fans trooped into the hall in a very quiet and gentle manner, but acted like a bunch of Comanche Indians before the end of the thrilling game, which went to the visitors by the small margin of 2 points, 24 to 22.

At times it was a knock-down, drag-out affair, with few fouls called and no quarter asked. The game was close from beginning to end, the Lafayette team enjoying its largest lead just before the first half ended. With the score 11 to 5, G. W. rallied, and the period ended in an 11-all deadlock.

Although the score was close, the visitors showed a much better brand of teamwork and looked to be a much better team, but they faltered any number of times after working the ball to within shooting distance. They attempted few long shots, getting all but one of their baskets as a result of good passing, which carried the ball close to the webbing. In the last half Hock took a shot at the moon and was successful.

THE Hatchetites, on the other hand, made most of their double-deckers from a distance. Their attack apparently has been built around Capt. Wallace and the Pennsylvanians kept him so well covered that he rarely ever got away from his man, all three of his scrimmage goals being of the "potshot" variety.

He and Allshouse easily starred for the home team, while Hock and Shirer were the visitors' best bets, the latter passing in rare form and

Hank Severeid Signs, Griffith Says in 4 Words

Wednesday night he burdened the wires with the following message:

"Spencer Adams sold to the Yankees." That's six words.

W. & L. DROPS CONTEST TO TERRAPINS

Maryland Five Has No Trouble With Generals' Team.

LEXINGTON, Va., Jan. 14.—Washington and Lee, unable to solve the great passing of the Old Liners, lost tonight's contest to the University of Maryland quintet, 33 to 20. The Generals could not get going from the start of the battle, while the visitors seemed at home on the local floor, shooting sensationally throughout the entire contest.

The Maryland five exhibited one of the greatest passing combinations ever to visit Lexington, and Washington and Lee fought vainly in an attempt to stop the marvelous teamwork of the Old Liners.

With Spotts forced out of the contest on account of personal fouls just as the second half started, the locals' attack failed to make any headway. Herndon displayed uncanny ability in ringing up foul tosses, caging four free throws besides a field basket. The visitors amassed a first half lead of 21 to 11, due to the basket tossing of Linkous and Faber, who shot three field goals during the period.

G. U. Humbled By Bucknell, 23 to 18

Nork Leads Rally for Georgetown Which Falls Short.

By WALTER HAIGHT.

BUCKNELL brought one Murphy to town last night, "Spud" his team-mates called him and Coach John O'Reilly used up the best part of four perfectly normal guards in an effort to stop the lanky visitor but to no avail. Nature finally put the brakes on him to some extent and in the last five minutes of play the Hilltop team piled in five consecutive field goals in spite of which it lost by a margin of 23 to 18.

The visitors exhibited the five-man zone defense and its personnel of long tall fellows presented an array of "arms" which the Georgetown offense found hard to get past. In fact, Bucknell displayed a five-man team which probably for the lack of capable substitutes stuck through the whole of the going.

On the other hand Georgetown kept a steady stream of fresh talent, mostly aimed at Murphy, flowing into the battle. The Bucknell star annexed a split lip somewhere in the scrimmage but "shook it off" with the aid of court-plaster welded by Trainer "Pike" Albaugh.

BOB NORK played the leading role for Georgetown, rivaling Murphy for the one-man scoring honors, and in addition playing a stellar floor game. Nork scored 5 times from the floor.

Capt. "Pete" Gitlitz, the Hilltop's nonshooting guard, was the only Georgetown entrant to play the whole game and gave a performance worthy of that distinction.

In the first minute of cautious play, Georgetown took the lead when Nork pocketed a midcourt shot. Bauch, the visiting center, followed with a neat dribble to a score, and Fritzinger's 20-foot success put Bucknell in front, a position which it held for the remainder.

After McCaskey had added to the margin, Murphy's deadly eye came into evidence, two goals resulting therefrom. Georgetown in the meantime had scored on Nork's basket and two fouls, to make the score 10-6 at intermission.

FOR fifteen minutes of the second half, Georgetown's points, 2 in number, were the result of foul shooting by Nork. Bucknell, on the other hand, with Mr. Murphy predominating, rolled along to 11 marks.

Nork, with the aid of some well-directed passing, took up the scoring burden and sent the ball through the ring three times, his last goal coming just before the final whistle.

PALACE CLUB DEFEATED, 16 TO 9

Fort Wayne Five Puts Washington Out of League Lead.

FORT WAYNE, Ind., Jan. 14.—Proving that its victory over Chicago, on Wednesday, was no flash in the pan, the tail-end Fort Wayne K. C. team continued its new lease of life by defeating the leading Washington Palace club by a score of 16 to 9. Washington dropped out of the league lead.

The Caseys repeated their feat of Wednesday night, holding the opposition to only one basket. It was a long toss from the center of the floor by Glascoe, just before the end of the first half.

The going was so tough in the first period that neither team scored a field goal until fourteen minutes had been played. Then Shimek made two great shots in quick succession, and Stonebraker tapped the ball in after a foul had been passed. The first half ended, 11 to 3, with Fort Wayne leading.

The Palace club was put out in the second half, as far as field goals were concerned, while Stonebraker scored the only goal for Fort Wayne. Fouls were frequent all through the battle. Shimek, B. Mille and Stonebraker starred for the home club, while Grody looked best for Washingtno.

Eddie Collins Rounds Up 18 Moundsmen to Solve Chisox Pitching Problem

CHICAGO, Jan. 14 (By A. P.). Five new pitchers, making a total of eighteen, are now on the roster of the Chicago White Sox for scrutiny by Manager Eddie Collins, who is striving to find one or two first rank hurlers to help Lyons and Blankenship.

With old Chief Bender as a pitching coach, the Sox boss has high hopes of finding the material he needs, either from the five pitchers recalled for further test, or the five new ones drawn from the minors last fall. The Sox problem centers around the mound staff.

Earl McBee, an Indian southpaw, picked from the Little Rock Southern league team, looks good to Collins, and Alphonse Thomas, purchased from Baltimore, already is considered among the regular boxmen. He won 30 and lost 11 games last year in the International league.

Young Fitzsimmons Faces Delaney Tonight

New York, Jan. 16 (By A. P.).—Turned back in his quest of light-heavyweight honors by a recent defeat at the hands of Champion Paul Berlenbach, Jack Delaney, of Bridgeport, Conn., will make a fresh start in a new and heavier division tomorrow night, when he opposes Young Bob Fitzsimmons, of Nutley, N. J., son of the former heavyweight champion, at Madison Square Garden.

The contest will mark Delaney's debut as a heavyweight. He is expected to scale 170 pounds against Fitzsimmons' 190.

Finnish Ice Champ Outclassed in Race

New York, Jan. 14 (By A. P.).—Joe Moore, of New York, world indoor champion, and Charley Gorman, Canadian king, left Clas Thunberg, olympic titleholder, far behind in a 3-mile skating race at Madison Square Garden tonight.

Moore, leaping out in front after 36 rounds of the 42-lap event had been covered, led easily to the finish, to flash across the line in 9:25 1-5, with Gorman ten yards behind. Thunberg wiped out the 2-mile indoor record by 3 3-5 seconds. His time at that point was 6:13 4-5.

Sergt. Jasper Post Indorses Boxing Bill

Sergt. Jasper Post, of the American Legion, last night passed a resolution indorsing the bill to legalize boxing in the District of Columbia introduced before the House on Wednesday by Representative MacGregor.

Members of the post also expressed themselves as heartily in favor of boxing as a character-building sport and will ask Capt. Julius Peyser, District commander, to employ his influence to promote the passing of the bill.

Crescent A. C. Wins Extra Period Game, 33 to 32.

NEW YORK, Jan. 14.—With ten seconds to play and the score tied at 27 to 27, Harvey, the right forward of the Catholic university basketball team, was fouled and missed the free try which, if he had made it, would have won the game with the Crescent A. C. tonight on the latter's court.

As a result of his miss, the game went into an extra period, from which the Crescent team emerged victorious by a score of 33 to 32. This was the thirteenth consecutive game the Crescents have won.

It was a good, fast game, with the Catholic university team in the lead, 20 to 14, at the end of the first half. Harvey, despite the fact that he missed the shot which

Paolino Hits Harder Than Jack Dempsey, Carpentier Declares

NEW YORK, Jan. 14 (By A. P.).—Paolino, Spanish heavyweight, has a more powerful punch in his left hand than Dempsey possesses, Georges Carpentier, of France, former light heavyweight champion, said today.

"I have faced them both," Carpentier said. "Dempsey knocked me out in Jersey City but not for long. Paolino hit me once in a training bout and I did not recover my senses for two hours."

The Frenchman said that for him the visit to the United States is a vacation, the first since he started boxing at the age of 13. He will go to California in two weeks and will fulfill a contract to box Jimmy Delaney of St. Paul in about four weeks if coast promoters insist upon it.

"I will see Promoter Tex Rickard tomorrow but only as a social call," he concluded.

Jack Dempsey Again Ranks At Top

Rosenberg and Kansas Are Placed Below Challengers.

"Honeyboy" Finnegan Named as Fourth Jr. Lightweight.

NEW YORK, Jan. 14 (By A. P.).—The "complimentary" ranking of Jack Dempsey at the head of the heavyweight division and relegation of two other world's champions, Rocky Kansas and Charley (Phil) Rosenberg, to subordinate positions in their classes, feature the 1925 international boxing ranking list selected by Tex Rickard, promoter.

In a copyrighted story for the January issue of the Ring, boxing publication, he names his world's selections in each of the nine pugilistic divisions, "based entirely on what was done in 1925," and "regardless of the ownership of titles."

In spite of his continued inactivity, Dempsey is placed at the head of his class because of lack of accomplishment by any other heavyweight sufficient to dislodge the champion. Rickard rates Harry Wills at No. 2, with Gene Tunney third, and predicts that Dempsey will meet these two rivals this year in the East.

TITLEHOLDERS occupy the top ranking positions in all but the bantam and lightweight classes. Among the bantams, Rickard ranks Chick Suggs, negro battler of New Bedford, Mass., in first place on the basis of his excellent 1925 record, with Rosenberg, the champion, fourth.

Kansas, veteran Buffalo Italian, who dislodged Jimmy Goodrich from the lightweight throne, is ranked No. 3 in his division, in which Sammy Mandell, of Rockford, Ill., is accorded first place.

RONDELLE LIKELY TO SCORE AGAIN, SAYS COLLYER

Ramkin Ready To Cop in Fifth

Madame Sans Gene Is Fine "Chance" Bet, Says Expert.

RONDELLE—This trick has shown rare consistency and this way rigged I look for him to again reward. The clockers also fancy the Baker horse, while Adolph fancies the Bradley representative, BARGAIN DAY. The latter has worked well, but I really believe he must have a race first. DARE SAY seems to hold the others safe. OLD RAMKIN is all ready for the question, and, with an overnight play that would choke a dog, is the sweet patootie to cop all the kale in the fifth. Now this old pelter enjoys a bit of class. XANTHOS is the one I am afraid of. The latter is probably the most improved cheap plater hereabouts. STAR FALCON, FIERY LIGHT and BOSH are closely bunched.

PORRIDGE in the day's opener is sent along as special. "Just needed that last effort to tune him up. Has been well schooled and will have Pool up." Such is the chatter sent along by the lads. SINGING CRICKET is a reputed good one that has been showing real keen morning trials. DR. ED KEEFER won his last start rather handily. In this order I fancy them.

A well-balanced field is named to face the starter in the second. MY DESTINY has considerably the worst of the weights. MEDDLING MATTIE and EAGAR are fit as hands cacn make them. HARRY CARROLL with a favorable post position seems to be the one to knock down in the third. He is an excellent mudder, and because he is believed to be only a mudder we will get a fair price. PANDY, from a viewpoint of class, looks the logical favorite with the ill-fated RITTER next in order. MADAME SANS GENE is the dangerous outsider. She has shown smart improvement of late, and is an excellent take-a-chance bet. ANDRY, in the sixth, and WHITE SHEPERDESS in the closing spasm are the others fancied. All told, it's another of those tuff cards. Yea, bo, there'll be racing all next week. Ye weekum!

Lubeck, going in his best form and showing most speed, moved into lead at once, saved ground for entire trip and outstayed Porto d'Oro. Latter also raced in his best form and was going stoutly at the end. Gad began slowly and worked a rough trip, but finished gamely.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—Rowland's Request, $3.20, $2.60, $2.20; Atomin, $4.80, $2.80; Moon Magic, $2.80.

Rowland's Request raced as if best, was restrained until reaching stretch where, under urging he came strong and won drawing out. Atomin, showing good speed, raced in the lead for most of the way and held on fairly well in final drive. Moon Magic raced minus blinkers and came from far back in last quarter.

THIRD RACE—Five and one-half furlongs. Purse, $1,200. For 3-year-old fillies. Start good. Won driving. Went to post at 2:48. Off at 2:50. Winner, J. S. Wallace's ch. f. (3), by Peter Quince—Hermosat. Trained by M. J. Ayres. Time, 1:07 2-5.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—Mary Kinkead, $22.80, $4.80, $2.80; Teak, $2.60, $2.20; Florence Mills, $3.20.

Mary Kinkead broke fast and, well handled, saved much ground for entire trip and, holding on well, outstayed Teak. Latter, probably best, was given an overconfident and poorly-judged ride. She lost much ground going wide and came strong when urged hard in stretch. Florence Mills ran a good race and was prominent all the way.

FOURTH RACE—Six furlongs. Western Fruit Jobbers Handicap. Purse, $1,500. For 3-year-olds and up. Start bad. Won driving. Went to post at 3:23. Off at 3:25. Winner, Greentree Stable's br. g. (5), by Omar Khayyam—Mary Maud. Trained by C Phillips. Time, 1:13.

C.U. YEARLING FIVE BEATEN BY EASTERN

High Tossers Turn in 35-19 Victory as Madigan Stars.

COACH "CHARLIE" GUYON was forced to hurry his regular Eastern High five back into action to put the game beyond reach of "Jack" Daly's battling Catholic University Freshmen yesterday afternoon in the Eastern gymnasium. The regulars finished up with a rush, as the final score of 35 to 19 shows.

That the Brooklanders could not cope with the form displayed by the first-string Lincoln Parkers was evidenced in the first half, when Eastern marched to a 14-to-4 count. Radice and Scruggs did most of the scoring for Eastern. Half of the C. U. total came on a mid-court shot by Mountain.

The third period was a repetition of the other two, Madigan's shooting playing a prominent part in carrying the Eastern margin to 29 to 8, which was the score turned over to the Guyon seconds.

THE Brooklanders refused, however, to have it rubbed in on them by high school subs and proceded to make five baskets while the Eastern youngsters were laboring under the frowns of Coach Guyon.

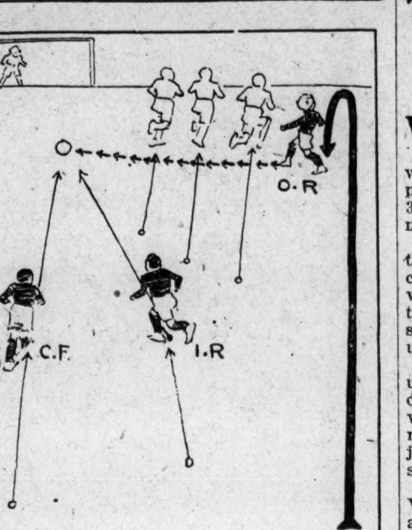
SOCCER SCIENCE

By a Former Coach in the British Army.

REVERSING THE FIELD



Reversing the field in soccer is one of the most effective yet one of the most difficult plays in the game. Its success depends upon a sixth sense that all soccer players do not possess; the ball carrier must know when to get rid of the ball.

As shown in the accompanying diagram the outside right has been given the ball. He carries it down the wing with the field thundering back of him. Instead of bearing in to the goal, where he will surely lose it to his opponents, he continues forward toward the boundary line. Suddenly he stops, turns the ball in the opposite direction and starts back. His opponents, being taken by surprise, slide past him before they can stop.

The attacking center forward and inside right should know the play and come up with all speed, heading for the goal. When the outside right sees that they are in position, he makes a fast low pass directly across the field so that when the ball slows down it will be in line with the goal.

Center forward and inside right will then have a splendid opportunity to score or to maneuver before scoring. If an opponent cuts in, the inside man may let the center forward have the ball and act as the interference.

Gallaudet Five Drills For Game Tomorrow

Coach Jack Haas, of Gallaudet college, has been putting his charges through a strenuous workout every day this week in preparation for the clash Saturday night with the University of Maryland Dentists at Baltimore.

Haas is having trouble finding players who can go through the entire game at top speed. Miller and Wallace, the two guards, are the only regulars to show to any advantage. Byouk, the player who scored most of Gallaudet's points against Catholic university would be a star if he would remember the plays given him.

If there is not a decided improvement in the playing of some of the regulars, members of the second team will be picked to form the first five, Coach Haas declares.

Tonight the New Jersey School for the Deaf will play the Gallaudet second team at Kendall Green. John Boatwright, a former star at Gallaudet, is coaching the New Jersey boys.

The game was only 20 seconds old when Allshouse broke the ice by taking a long pass under his basket and dropping the ball in. He was fouled while doing so and put his team 3 points to the good when he holed one of the two freedom shots granted him. Only a few moments later, Shirer counted a two-pointer. From then on, the scoring came at much longer intervals, a cluster of 6 points for the Hatchetites, which included two baskets by Allshouse, making the count 11 to 11 as the first period ended.

Shortly after play had been resumed, a long one by Wallace put G. W. in the van, but one by Hubbard equaled it and, from then on, the visitors always enjoyed a small lead. They ran their total to 19 before the home boys could register again. Just before the final whistle was blown, a pretty toss by Banton made the count 22 to 20, and a charity shot by Allshouse gave the Hatchetities hope of a winning rally, but a two-pointer by Dwyer burst their bubble, as a free toss by Brown was their last chance.

Had Coach Crum's henchmen been more adept from the 15-foot line, G. W. would have done something Georgetown was unable to do earlier in the week. The Hatchetites had ten free shots and crashed in on but six. Hock was the only visitor to benefit from fouls, getting four free chances and taking advantage of half of them. Lafayette made no substitutions.

SHOT by shot the Crescents drew even with Catholic University in the second half. Meantime, the suspense was acute, and the playing waxed hotter and faster. There was silence when Harvey toed the line for a try which might decide the game, then a shriek of delight when he missed.

Within a minute of the extra period of play the Crescents had brought their score to 31 to 27. Long caged a free try for the visitors, and O'Donnell made a field goal. Another basket for the Crescents decided the issue.

Yesterday tough luck was my middle name. My horse, ROWLAND'S REQUEST, WON, but the information "LEAKED OUT" and tons of money at the last minute ruined the price. Horse was quoted at 8 and 10 to 1 in all post-time lines, and last start at New Orleans was 73 to 1 in the betting. At that, I just missed a WIN PARLAY, as my other horse, BOLIVAR BOND, ran second. I sure had the breaks against me yesterday. However, what you are interested in is TODAY. I am overdue for a BIG WIN PARLAY, and as both of my horses today will be at BIG PRICES, I look for my parlay to pay

SAINTS LOSE TO WESTERN FIVE

Wilson and Coombs Leaders of Attack in 35-18 Victory.

WESTERN HIGH'S basketers experienced but little difficulty yesterday in emerging victorious over the light, but plucky, tossers of St. Alban's by a 35 to 18 score in the latter's gymnasium.

Coach Ahearn's varsity combination passed rings around the Wisconsin avenue boys in the first half, which ended 19 to 5. Thereafter the Western understudies were assigned the task and business picked up from a St. Alban's angle.

The Western outfit was shaken up a bit by Coach Ahearn for the occasion. Wilson was moved to forward and "Big" Coombs, generally rated a sub, was installed in the jumping department in place of Wilson.

This combination worked to Western's advantage. Coombs, in addition to fitting in well, found time to drop in 4 baskets. Walker and Heagy were the other principal scorers.

Doyle Now Is Angling For Heavy Title Bout

Los Angeles, Jan. 14 (By A. P.). Jack Doyle, veteran California fight promoter, today obtained from Jack Dempsey, world's heavyweight champion, a promise to fight Harry Wills, 10 rounds to a decision for the title, in Los Angeles, Labor day, September 6, next, on three conditions.

Dempsey's first two stipulations were that the group of Los Angeles backers whom Doyle represents and who have signified their willingness to underwrite the match up to $2,000,000 obtain permission to hold the bout in Los Angeles coliseum and that they show the necessary financial ability to carry the deal through.

The champion's other condition was that he be given 10 days to permit Floyd Fitzsimmons, South Bend, Ind., promoter who has been negotiating with him, to put up the necessary cash guarantee for a bout in the East or call that deal off.

LAMAR BOXES FOR VA. U. ONLY

D. C. Youth Declares He Will Not Endanger Status Again.

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va., Jan. 14.—Henry Lamar, of Washington, D. C., national amateur light-heavyweight champion boxer, who is a first year student at the University of Virginia, will not engage in any ring contests except as a representative of the university while he is a student here.

During December Lamar endangered his amateur status in the Amateur Athletic union by boxing on the same program with profsssional bouts. Though his opponent was a strict amateur and neither of the fighters received any compensation for the fight, Lamar was put under a temporary ban by the A. A. U., but was exonerated from any charges of professionalism.

After his return to the university following the Christmas vacation, Lamar talked the matter over with Virginia athletic authorities and agreed that his future ring participation will be limited to matches in which he can wear the orange and blue.

VIRGINIA'S athletic representatives have been assured of the strict amateur rating of Lamar, that he has never received any money for boxing, and that he is eligible to compete on Virginia first year teams this season and varsity teams later, provided he keeps up to the academic requirements.

Lamar is training daily in the Memorial gymnasium under Coach Johnny LaRowe, who is in charge of both the varsity and the first year boxing squads.

When this champion boxer will first be seen in action for Virginia is still a matter of doubt, for the schedule of the first year fighters has not been completed. The initial match will come early in February with either V. M. I. or Washington and Lee.

Ross Young Medalist In Texas Open Golf

San Antonio, Tex., Jan. 14 (By A. P.).—Three professionals and three amateurs divided honors in the best ball event at the opening of the Texas open tournament here today, each taking a 68. The professionals, Phil Hesler, of Tulsa; John Golden, of Paterson, N. J., and Al Espinosa, Chicago, split the first professional prize at $75 each, while the amateurs, Capt. A. M. Post and F. M. Lewis, of San Antonio, and Ross Young, rightfielder of the New York National Baseball club, won medals.

The excellent tee shots of John Rogers, of Pittsburgh, carried off the first prize of $50 in the driving contest. Rogers hit terrifically on his three attempts on the fifth hole, where the contest was held. His first went 310 yards, his second 300 and his third 295.

TECH FIVE TRIMS MARYLAND FRESHMEN IN UPSET

School Team Is Victor, 27-21

Werber and Councilor Score All But Three of Teams' Points.

Yearlings Lose Lead After Being in Van, 17-13, at Half.

TECH HIGH'S court team sprang the biggest surprise of the local basketball season, coming from behind to defeat the Maryland Freshmen five by 27 to 21 in the Richie gymnasium yesterday afternoon. The game marked the first defeat of the season for the Black and Gold first-year team.

Although slow to strike its stride, the Tech tossers, once under way, kept moving at a pace that dazzled the heftier Maryland boys.

The McKinley five employed a short passing game to work the ball within "cutting" distance. Werber and Councilor not only outwitted their men in getting close to the basket, but showed uncanny ability to go through with the important matter of putting the ball through the rim. This pair, with the able assistance of team mates, accounted for 24 of Tech's points.

WITH Hale leading the attack, the Maryland team hopped off to a 13 to 6 advantage at the end of the first period and when the second session ended 17 to 13, it appeared that the Freshmen would maintain about that margin.

Going into the second half apparently ready to bow to defeat, the Manual Trainers uncorked a rally to put them in front by 22 to 19. Both teams battled their all in the final session, but Tech was not to be denied. Instead of a repetition of its Central game, when Tech was beaten in the final quarter, Tech outscored its rival.

While it was the points scored by Councilor and Werber, that obviously played a big part in the victory, another important factor was the defensive work of Tech in the second half. The Marylanders were able to register but four points during the last half, equally divided in the two quarters.

$50,000 Suit Filed Against Grange, Pyle

Los Angeles, Jan. 14 (By A. P.). Harold ("Red") Grange, football star, his manager, Charles C. Pyle, and four others were named defendants in a $50,000 damage suit filed in superior court here today by George Lazo. The plaintiff charges breach of contract in arranging a football game in Los Angeles.

The action is based on an agreement which Lazo said he made with Pyle last November by telegraph and later confirmed when Pyle came West. Now, he contends, Grange has entered into another contract under which the game Saturday will be played.

IN THE PRESS BOX
—WITH BAXTER—

THERE is a good deal of thunder and lightning in the baseball heaven because of the proposal that all forms of professional athletics in New York should be made subject to the New York Athletic Commission, a body which is already providing plenty of comedy by its supervision of the prize-ring industry.

The diamond magnates think the proposal a very poor one and insist that since baseball has managed to stagger along for a good many years without State regulation there is no reason for the inauguration of any such a policy now.

The trouble is that the baseball magnates laid themselves open to just such a movement some six years ago when they appointed Kenesaw Mountain Landis to be the overlord of baseball. Prior to that time professional baseball was a going, private business in which some were making and many losing money.

MORE REGULATIONS: BASEBALL HAS COLD SHIVERS AT PROSPECT.

There came the day when the discovery was made that some of the boys were waking up with large bundles of currency under their pillows. It was further proven that this bit of alchemy was introduced so that the boys might not win ball games. This was disturbing to the magnates because it caused the cash customer to have some doubt in the sanctity of what had been widely heralded as a national pastime.

In their panic the moguls agreed to pay Kenesaw Mountain Landis $50,000 a year to take the control of their own business entirely out of their hands. The Mountain, having been a lawyer and a judge, drew up a contract which relieved them of their business and left them the worries. No form of regulation could be more thorough than that imposed by the Mountain. A little thing like State interference ought to mean nothing now.

A BASEBALL enthusiast, who bases his calculations exclusively on figures, rises to a point of personal privilege in the matter of the award made Roger Peckinpaugh as being the most valuable player to his club in the American league. The enthusiast is of the opinion that the members of the Baseball Writers association who participated in the balloting must have been merely endeavoring to amuse themselves.

He presents an analysis which is, however, interesting. It is a comparison of Peckinpaugh's record with those of other players. In the matter of batting, Peckinpaugh ranked as follows in various departments: No. 34 in games played, 126, 30 behind leader; 38 in times at bat, 422, 236 behind leader; 39 in runs scored, 67, 68 behind leader; 40 in number of hits, 124, 129 behind leader; 44 in total bases, 160, 232 behind leader; 54 in two-base hits, 16, 28 behind leader; 43 in three-base hits, 4, 15 behind leader; 38 in home runs, 4, 29 behind leader; 12 in sacrifice hits, 22, 19 behind leader; 14 in stolen bases, 13, 30 behind leader; 63 in batting average, .294, 99 points behind leader; 32 in runs responsible for, 64, 74 behind leader; 36 in base on balls, 49, 41 behind leader.

A similar comparison in the matter of fielding, considering shortstops only, brings the following figures to light: No. 5 in fielding average, .952, 16 points behind leader; 6 in number of putouts, 215, 99 behind leader; 5 in number of assists, 345, 184 behind leader; 6 in number of double plays, 71, 26 behind leader.

As a result of these statistics the enthusiast thinks that the award for the most valuable player should not be made except after a careful analysis of all the figures for the year. In this way undoubtedly it would be possible to name the man who excelled in the mechanical phases of the game and in a sense determine the most finished ballplayer in the league.

VALUABLE PLAYER: FIGURES ALONE FAIL TO TELL THE STORY.

The award is, however, for the player "most valuable to his club." The best player is not always in this category. Figures, moreover, can take no account of brains, heart and spirit. These must be weighed in the balance as well. On all of these counts, and remembering the measured wisdom that Peckinpaugh contributed to the Washington club, this column would not question his selection, regardless of what happened in the world's series.

Umpires at British hockey games stuff cotton in their ears to shut out profanity on the part of the players, but if somebody were to suggest the same thing to baseball arbiters, there just ain't that much cotton.

THERE ought to be no decline in the real estate market of Florida as long as the number of race-track promoters holds out. At last count there were two tracks that are certain to operate this winter and a half dozen more being carried around under the hat of some ambitious real estate salesman.

The question is, just how many tracks can the State of Florida afford to support? As things go now, New York and Maryland, with four tracks each, are the best patrons of the race track, but these two States are slightly more populous and better suited to year-round residence than Florida.

At the present rate of increase, Florida will soon have more courses than either of these racing centers, and there can not help but be some conflict in dates, since the profitable season in Florida for such ventures must come within a period of three months. The State is more than likely to have a case of thoroughbred indigestion, if all of the proposed ventures go through.

RACING AND REALTY: FLORIDA CAN NOT SUPPORT ALL VENTURES.

There are too many race tracks now in view of the limited number of race horses and capable jockeys. There are certainly too many tracks operating on the edge of prohibitory laws. Nothing is to be gained by forcing races down the throats of a community that has not fully legalized the sport. There is always the danger that the spark will be struck there that will lead to general abolition.

It might not be a bad idea for the Jockey club to take upon its shoulders the regulation of race tracks. By outlawing those that did not have its sanction, and refusing trainers and horses that operated on the "outlaw" circuits the privileges of Jockey club and affiliated tracks, the mushroom courses would soon be forced out of business.

The police put a nightcap on the Natcap, but so far Frank Dane has reported no sweet dreams.

Promoter Confers With Wills' Manager

New York, Jan. 14 (By A. P.).—Floyd Fitzsimmons, promoter of Michigan City, Ind., today conferred with Paddy Mullins, manager of Harry Wills, in an effort to secure approval of a reorganization of the syndicate for which Fitzsimmons expects next September to promote a heavyweight title match between Wills and Jack Dempsey.

Mullins said that Fitzsimmons had given him reason to believe there would be no hitch in the steps to stage the fight in or near Chicago. The Michigan City promoter already holds a tentative agreement signed by the two boxers.

D. C. CUEISTS LEADING IN MATCH

IN the first quarter of the continous 1,200-point intercity 18.2 balkline billiard match, played at the Lewis & Krauss parlors last night, the local cueists gained an advantage of 33 points over a representative Baltimore team. B. R. Clark and Capt. Wolfe represented Washington, opposing H. E. Crook and Farson, respectively, of the Monumental City. The night's total score was 300 to 267.

Clark and Crook were the first to take the table, the former clicking off his allotted 150 in 38 innings, while the visitor was accumulating but 140. Clark had high clusters of 27 and 22, while Crooks' best was a 15.

THE District representative took the lead with his 27 run in the seventh inning and maintained it until the sixteenth when the Oriole forged in front. It was Clark's cluster of 20 in the thirty-sixth inning which gave him the lead again, and, after drawing a blank, he made the needed single point to end the match.

Beginning where their mates left off, Wolfe and Farson then took up the cueing, the former counting 150 while his opponent was getting 127. Wolfe had two runs of 14, with and 18 and a 12 being Farson's best efforts. Both players seemed to have trouble getting started, but they found themselves as the game progressed. Farson was woefully weak on his rail shots and ended any number of runs because of misses of these. Although Wolfe never had any large margin, he was always in the van.

The second quarter will be played at Klein's parlors in Baltimore next Thursday night, with Frank Turton and E. L. Powell representing Washington, against C. H. Crook and F. Hows, respectively.

McGraw Serenades Herrmann After Getting Groh

By AL DEMAREE
(Former Pitcher New York Giants)

THERE is something almost uncanny in the trades Fate has arranged between the New York Giants and the Cincinnati Reds. Some of the most famous characters of the diamond have figured in these trades—Mike Donlin, Cy Seymour, Art Fromme, Larry McLean, Eddie Grant, the world war hero; Christy Mathewson, Charley Herzog, Heinie Groh, Eddie Roush, Hal Chase, Fred Toney, Red Ames, George Burns and dozens of others.

I remember one night in Buffalo in the fall of 1921 when McGraw had just traded George Burns, the outfielder, for Heinie Groh, whom Mac had traded to the Reds years before with Josh Devore and Red Ames for Pitcher Art Fromme.

McGraw was tickled to death to get Groh and had a crowd of his old players and cronies gathered around him, including Scout Dick Kinsella, Roger Bresnahan, Johnny Evers, Larry Doyle, Joe Tinker, Jim Tearney and myself. It was about 3 in the morning and Mac decided to go down to Garry Herrman's hotel, wake him up and talk to him about the trade. We all trailed down the street, with McGraw leading the way. Half way down to the hotel we ran across two negro musicians on their way home from a dance. One was armed with a gigantic bass viol and the other a saxaphone. Taking them along, we all made our way to Garry's room on the fifth or sixth floor and serenaded him. Herrman took it good-naturedly and although he had been sound asleep, opened the door and welcomed the gang in.

U. S. Recognition of Mackenzie
FATHER IS FELICITATED
Stirs Golf Circles of District

By HENRY LITCHFIELD WEST.

THE selection of Roland R. Mackenzie as a member of the American team which will go abroad to participate in the international contest for the Walker cup is an honor never before enjoyed by any golfer of the District of Columbia. In fact, not since 1910, when Walter R. Tuckerman reached the semifinal round of the national amateur championship at Brookline has any local player been prominent in national amateur golf.

The announcement of the personnel of the Walker cup team in The Post yesterday morning attracted wide interest in golfing circles, especially when it became known that young Mackenzie's name was in the list.

At the Columbia club, where Roland is a member, gossip about the team was the one subject discussed at a gathering of a goodly number of the members yesterday and Albert R. Mackenzie, Roland's father, who joined the group late in the afternoon, was the recipient of many congratulations.

HE stated that he had communicated the good news to his son, who is a freshman at Brown university, Providence, R. I., as soon as the announcement became public, and that the boy had naturally expressed himself as delighted.

John C. Walker, the president of the club, was so pleased with the fact that Roland was named as a member of the team that he went downtown from his residence in Chevy Chase yesterday morning and obtained passage in order to be at St. Andrews when the cup matches are played on June 2 and 3.

It is not expected that there will be any difficulty in Roland's obtaining absence from the university early in the spring, although this may necessitate making up his studies during the summer vacation. His parents hope to be able to accompany him, although this is not definitely settled.

The widespread interest in the selection of young Mackenzie as a member of the Walker cup team was illustrated at Poli's theater Wednesday night when the news was announced from the stage. When the applause had subsided, the speaker stated that Mackenzie's instructor, Fred McLeod, the Columbia club professional, was in the audience. This led to more applause, and McLeod was urged to go up on the stage, so that he could be formally introduced, but with his natural modesty he remained in his seat.

TEACHERS VS. SCHOLARS.

Alexandria, Va., Jan. 14.—The second annual game between the Teachers and Alexandria High School Girls varsity sextet has been scheduled for 8.30 p. m. Monday night at the Armory hall.

The Sportswoman
By DOROTHY E. GREENE

ANOTHER vacancy occurred in the ranks of the Women's Council Basketball league yesterday when the Capital Athletic club announced that it had withdrawn and would not complete its schedule.

The C. A. C. was listed to play the Washington A. C. sextet last night at Eastern High school but the game was called off at a late hour. Officials of the club would make no statement regarding their move other than the explanation that the club was too busy to keep more than one team in the field and that their basketball activities would be confined to participation in the Washington Recreation league schedule.

This explanation rules out the supposition that the Capitalites resigned because they were out of sympathy with the N. A. A. F. program which the veteran league has under consideration because the Washington Recreation league is organized on the N. A. A. F. plan and embodies all its principles.

POSTPONEMENTS REGULATED.

The feature of the Washington Recreation league meeting yesterday at the Y. W. C. A. was a misunderstanding regarding the room in which the group would meet. The business end of the meeting was in session on the second floor and a goodly number waited some 60 minutes on the floor above, under the impression that they had been deserted. We suggest to those who were among the missing that on future occasions a more careful search be instituted.

The part of the meeting which functioned decided that on and after Monday, January 18, managers will not be permitted to postpone regular, scheduled games. This action was forced upon the council because so many teams have been postponing games for minor reasons and, due to the shortage of gymnasium facilities in the city, new dates could not be arranged.

To leave the field clear until after the senior league makes its decision on its future policy regarding the N. A. A. F. program, it was decided to defer the mass meeting which had been planned for February 2 until Tuesday, March 2.

The next regular meeting of the W. R. L. will be held at the Y. W. C. A. on Tuesday, February 2, at 5:45 p. m.

CITIZENS AND PLAYGROUND.

Every good product sells itself, and if the District committee of the House wishes a concrete example of what the citizens of Washington think of playgrounds it can ask the Park View Citizens association. The reply of this organization will give that paternal group of legislators no alternative, and they will increase the appropriation for playgrounds as Mrs. Susie Root Rhodes, the superintendent, recommends.

At the last meeting of the Park View association, of which C. W. Walker is president, money was voted to keep the Park View ground open and to pay the salary of its director, Miss Martha Dunham, during the months of January and February.

Washington has the distinction of being about the only city of its size in the country whose budget is so limited that it can not support a year-round playground program. Cold weather does not keep the children indoors as the distressing number of coasting accidents prove.

TO CONSIDER BILL.

The recreation committee of the Washington Council of Social Agencies will meet today for luncheon at the Y. W. C. A. to consider the bill recently introduced by Mr. Zihlman to provide artificial bathing beaches for Washington.

According to Miss Lydia Burklin, chairman of the recreation committee, the group went on record as approving some provision for public bathing facilities. Members are asked to study the bill and come prepared to tell the committee what they think of it.

CALVARY MEETS SIOUX.

The Recreation league tilt for tonight will be between the Calvary church team and the Sioux Athletic club sextet on the Calvary floor at 9 p. m. The Company F-Good Shepherd game, which was listed for this evening, was played Wednesday and was won by the church plyaers by a 25 to 8 score.

WESTERN ELECTS OFFICERS.

Western High School Rifle club officers have been elected, and according to Mrs. F. Carl Werthner, faculty adviser for the club, the markswomen are awaitnig only for the opening of the range to start their practice.

The new officers are: India Bell Corea, captain; Lillian Lindquist, manager; Florence Kincheloe, secretary, and Dorothy White, treasurer.

The Washington Athletic club girls team scored a remarkable 54-0 victory over the Capitol sextet, in a Council league game last night. Miss Schultze was the outstanding player.

TRACTION STOCKHOLDERS TO HAVE SAY IN MERGER

Hamilton Says No Proposal Will Be Considered Without Their Consent.

SELIGMAN BRANCH OPENS

By F. W. PATTERSON.

"Any plan for merger or consolidation must, of course, be based upon the consent and approval of the stockholders," said George E. Hamilton, president of the Capital Traction Co., yesterday when making the preliminary annual report of the company to the stockholders, "and no plan or merger will be considered or presented to the stockholders by your management that does not safeguard the rights of the stockholders and of the public," he declared.

Mr. Hamilton told the stockholders that there has been for several months, and is now, much discussion in the newspapers of the District and otherwise, of a merger of the street transportation companies of Washington and suggestions looking to this consummation have been from time to time made and some informal conferences held, but that nothing definite has so far resulted.

New York, Jan. 14 (By A. P.).—The cotton market was very quiet today with a slight early advance on cable news followed by reactions under realizing. May sold up to 19.53 early, 10 points net higher, but reacted to 19.43 and closed at 19.45, or only 2 points net higher. The general market closed steady, net 5 points higher to 1 point lower, near months being relatively firm.

The opening was steady at an advance of 4 to 5 points and active positions showed net gains of 5 to 10 points in early trading. Relatively firm Liverpool cables were accompanied by reports that the Egyptian government had decided to buy 500,000 cantares in the Alexandria market, presumably to sustain prices. There were also continued reports of improving trade in cotton goods in Manchester and more favorable advices from the domestic goods markets.

Demand created by these features was comparatively limited, however, and was supplied on the early advance to 20.02 for March and 18.23 for October. Later trading was very quiet with fluctuations narrow and the little business reported seemed to consist largely of further switching from near to late months.

The early buying movement here probably was promoted to some extent by the report of the census bureau placing domestic consumption for December at 575,271 bales against 533,789 last year. These figures were above recent private forecasts, but were in line with the daily news of the past several weeks, indicating increased mill activity following the improvement in the southern water power situation late last autumn.

Private cables reported that the continent and Alexandria were buying in Liverpool, and Egyptian futures in the Liverpool market closed 77 to 82 English points higher.

Exports today, 26,532, making 4,919,143 so far this season. Port receipts, 32,106. U. S. port stocks, 1,689,791.

$819,373 FOR CITY'S SURPLUS IS ASKED IN M'CARL REPORT

$239,450 COMES FROM 1922 DEFICIENCY FUND

Nearly $1,000,000 additional owing to the District from the surplus fund settlement of last year was asked in a message sent to the House yesterday by Comptroller General McCarl. The amount, $819,373.83, to be exact, has been found to be due the District in a recheck of the findings of the joint congressional committee, which awarded the District more than $5,000,000 as its due under the surplus fund which had been accumulating for years in the Treasury.

This sum, accruing from year to year as a District balance, was made available with the provision that it should be used for parks and schools. Presumably the additional money now sought must be used in the same manner.

Of the total sum, $239,430.72, Mr. McCarl said, is for the District's proportion of the deficiency appropriation of July 1, 1922, which aggregated $399,051.20. The appropriation was not approved until after the fiscal year 1922, Mr. McCarl pointed, and therefore was not embraced in the report of the District auditor and the general accounting office when the surplus settlement was made.

The District is also to get $11,679.14 as its proportion of miscellaneous revenues, not collected through taxes, but coming from the War Department, Court of Appeals, Smithsonian institution, Interior Department, public health service, Industrial home, which in the surplus reckoning had been entered erroneously as a charge against the District.

It receives $398,755.12 as its proportion of the surplus warrant of June 30, 1922, the total of which was $722,740.36, which had been erroneously charged against the District, and $169,508.85 for excess revenues collected during the fiscal year 1922.

War Unified Nation, Senator Means Says

Complex United States became a cohesive nation during the supreme test of the world war, Senator Rice Means, of Colorado, said yesterday at the monthly meeting and luncheon of the Military Order of the World War at the Lafayette hotel. Senator Means also said Americans should keep this ideal in view and not sacrifice their birthright of freedom from foreign alliances to insure world peace. He favored passage of the disabled emergency officers' retirement bill.

New members elected are: Maj. Gen. Samuel D. Rockenbach, Rear Admiral Charles Morris, Col. Charles E. Kilbourne, Capt. Frank Cary Steward, Col. James F. Hall and Col. Joseph F. Cottrell. Col. Harry Gilchrist, assistant chief of chemical warfare, and Lieut. Col. Balidon Hulewicz, chief of the staff of the Polish army, and Maj. George F. Lee, commander of the Chicago chapter of the order, were guests.

Commissioners Oppose Larger Park Board

Enlargement of the membership of the National Capital Park commission by addition of three civilians was disapproved by the District commissioners yesterday in a report to Congress on a bill to extend the powers of the commission and change its name to National Capital Park and Planning commission.

The bill was approved in principle and most of its provisions were specifically indorsed. The commissioners made the point that, especially with increased authority, it was essential that the commission should be limited in its membership to persons already otherwise connected with the administration of public affairs in the District of Columbia.

RABBI TO SPEAK ON JEWS.

Their Desirability, Apart From Business, Will Be Discussed.

"Why the Jews are needed aside from their business intercourse with the world," will be the theme of a short discourse by Rabbi J. T. Loeb, at the Ohev Sholom synagogue, Fifth and I streets northwest, tonight at 8 o'clock.

The ritual music of the young people's services will be rendered by Cantor Abraham Kalmus, with the assistance of the synagogue choir directed by Leader Samuel Wolkovsky.

Leg Cut Off, Man Asks $50,000.

The Hudson Brick & Supply Co., of Langdon, was sued yesterday in circuit court for $50,000 damages by Eldridge C. Grimes for alleged personal injuries. Jurist Fills Long-Standing Vacancy on Board of the University.

WON HONORS DURING WAR

Judge Edwin B. Parker has accepted membership on the board of trustees of George Washington university, it was announced yesterday, following the annual midwinter meeting held in Corcoran hall. His acceptance fills a vacancy of long standing on the board.

Judge Parker left his law practice in Texas at the outbreak of the war to come to Washington as "a dollar-a-year man" in the organization of the War Industries board, of which he was made a member and priority commissioner. After the armistice he was named a member of the United States Liquidation commission and later commissioner and American umpire on the Mixed Claims commission.

Jackson Would Be Dry Today, Wheeler States

(By the Associated Press).

The recent remark of Senator Edwards (Democrat), New Jersey, that, if Andrew Jackson were alive he would challenge Wayne B. Wheeler, general counsel of the Antisaloon league, to a duel, brought a reply last night from the latter.

"Instead of challenging me to a duel," said Mr. Wheeler's statement, "Andrew Jackson would be more inclined to say today, 'If any man violates the American Constitution, shoot him on the spot.' Senator Edwards is as uninformed on the attitude of great Democratic leaders toward the Constitution as he is concerning the merits of prohibition."

WHEELER SAYS WETS PLAN CONGRESS DRIVE

The antiprohibitionists are planning an intensive drive to capture the next Congress or to decrease the dry majority, said Wayne B. Wheeler, counsel of the Antisaloon league, at the quarterly convention of the W. C. T. U. of the District of Columbia, held in the Eastern Presbyterian church, Sixth and C streets northeast, yesterday morning and afternoon. The fight will be a hard one, he predicted, but the drys will win.

Representative Walter H. Newton, of Minnesota, spoke on the encouraging results of prohibition, saying it would be impossible and unsafe to return to pre-Volstead days. He insisted, however, that cooperation between the Federal government and the States was necessary before the eighteenth amendment could be a complete success.

"Law enforcement" was the slogan advocated by Mrs. Ella A. Boole, president of the National W. C. T. U., in her speech. She told of the new membership campaign planned, in which 10,000 members will each get ten new members.

MACNIDER LAUDS DAVIS AS FORMER GUARDSMAN

Assistant Secretary Also Praises Militia in Letter to Gen. Reckord.

RECALLS SERVICE IN WAR

Militia throughout the country has in the Secretary of War himself and his associates men who have learned its problems through service in its ranks and who will try to support its efforts, Assistant Secretary of War Hanford MacNider declares in a letter to Gen. Milton A. Reckord, resident of the National Guard association, now in convention at St. Augustine, Fla.

"The average citizen has always been just familiar enough with the national guard to think he knew something about it, but not conversant enough with its problems, unless he has marched in its ranks, to be able to judge it at all," Col. MacNider says. The guard has suffered accordingly.

"The nation has always felt that some way or other we could muddle through. It might be, and probably was, a good idea to have organized militia, but it wasn't worth much money to maintain and very little encouragement in any other way. This sort of attitude is 'let those who like that sort of thing fool with it if they get any fun out of it, but don't come around bothering me about it.'"

The Assistant Secretary continues to paint the guard officer as a man charged with being fond of medals and parades and who must bear good-natured mockery from his fellow townsmen.

"I am proud as you are to say that I have seen service with the national guard. The Secretary of War served as a guardsman. He understands your problems, appreciates your difficulties and the fine spirit with which you have always met and conquered them. With such powers as we are given by law and with such authorities as we have gained by experience, we shall endeavor to support your efforts."

BUS FARE INCREASE HEARING IS ORDERED

The District public utilities commission yesterday ordered the Washington Gas Light Co. to extend its mains to Benning and Kenilworth, as forecast yesterday in The Post.

No specific manner was set forth by the members of the commission in which to lay the new mains. The company was left free to provide the additional service in its own way. At a public hearing on the subject Wednesday, the company said it would be necessary to carry the gas mains across the Pennsylvanai avenue bridge, at great cost. Lieut. Col. J. Franklin Bell, engineer commissioner, asked why it could not be laid under the Anacostia river, eliminating diversion from a direct route.

Commissioners Urge Replacing Chain Bridge

Erection of a new bridge across the Potomac river to replace Chain bridge was recommended to Congress yesterday by the District board of commissioners, in a report to Representative Frederick N. Zihlman, chairman of the House District committee. The commissioners' letter on a bill authorizing the project, said:

"This bridge will provide access not only to the Lee highway but to the country around Great Falls and beyond, on the Virginia side of the Potomac. One end of the bridge is in Virginia. It is probable in the not-distant future that travel over this proposed bridge will be more national than local in character, and it is believed that the provision to construct this bridge with United States funds is equitable and desirable."

Ann Harding Play Soon.

"Tarnish," which the Wardman Park Players are presenting this week, is the drama which brought about the Broadway "arrival" of Ann Harding, the young actress who will be seen for the first time in Washington the week after next at the Shubert-Belasco, heading the cast of "Stolen Fruit."

"Tarnish" was Miss Harding's first Broadway role, and her popularity is said to have been largely responsible for the long run the play enjoyed. Yet until the New York opening the management of the play tried consistently to replace Miss Harding.
